Paratroops Plan Another Big Drop Despite Tragedy

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Army authorities plan another mass airborne drop Saturday on the heels of a tragic maneuver which killed five and hospitalized 137 paratroopers Wednesday afternoon.

The dead included Pfc. Danny J. Ruffin Jr., son of Danny Ruffin of Hamilton, Ohio.

At least seven other Ohioans were among the injured. They included Pfc. James Scalia and Sp.3c James B. Mills, both of Cleveland; Pfc. Thomas J. May, Ironton; Pfc. Tim Gee, Medina; Sp3c Leonard O. Sanford, St. Marys; M. Sgt. Alfred J. Grant, Montpelier; and Sgt. 1c William J. Ashcraft, Painesville.

The paratroopers were tossed about the drop zone by treacherous and shifting wind gusts.

The victims, among nearly 1,400 taking part, were dragged across the rought drop zone by billowing parachutes which they were helpless to deflate. None of those hospitalized was believed in serious condition.

* * *

"THE GUY who collapsed my chute for me looked like Santa Claus at Easter time," said Sgt. 1c Daniel Kling, St. Louis, who suffered severe cuts and bruises. "Guess I went clear across the drop zone."

The battle-trained soldiers making the jump were members of the 502nd Battle Group, one of five such groups in the streamlined 101st Airborne Division. The 502nd is the aggressor force in Exercise Eagle Wing.

The other groups, acting as defenders, are scheduled to jump Saturday.

The five who were killed were blown against trees and rocks by the wind gusts or strangled by suspension lines when they were unable to collapse their parachutes.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, 44, who assumed command of the 101st earlier this month, jumped with the 502nd, his 70th jump.

Maj. L. A. Breault, information officer at the Army post, said there was no malfunctioning of parachutes.

Authorities said many of the injured were hurt when gusty winds carried the falling troopers from their intended landing spots and then dragged them and their parachutes along the rough terrain.

"It was like a runaway mule pulling a farmer who had been plowing," one observer said.

Westmoreland was dragged 300 feet across rough ground, but escaped injury.

"I just couldn't run as fast as my chute was going," he said.

Cattle Supply Buildup Eyed

Ag Agency Warns Against Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agricultural Marketing Service said today the cattle industry, now riding a wave of favorable prices, may be expanding too rapidly for its long-time good.

The service said cattlemen are withholding a considerable number of meat animals for use in building bigger herds. This holding operation tends to reduce meat supplies below what they should more normally be, with prices being held relatively high.

"The withholding occurs after two years of reduction in numbers of cattle and production of hogs," the agency said in a livestock situation report.

"With slaughter supplies tending downward, and consumer demand for meat weakening only a little, the immediate result of withholding is to create a price boom. The boom feeds on itself; each rise in price stimulates further holding back, to speed the expansion. This spiral, so dangerous to future prices, may not build as high as some have previously."

* * *

THE SERVICE said the consequence of too rapid an increase in cattle numbers will not appear for two years or longer; until then, prices will hold up well.

As for expansion in hog production, the agency said significant price effects of any overproduction probably would not occur before the fall of 1959.

Supplies of meat for consumption this year may drop, the service said, to a per capita average of 151 pounds compared with 159 last year. It said prices of meat at retail may recede only moderately from spring levels.

Housewife Lauded For Law Effort

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Although she got praise from the judge, housewife Mrs. Kenneth L. Fowler is turning her court fight for a dry basement over to a professional lawyer.

Mrs. Fowler, 34, mother of nine children, conducted her own case Wednesday when her damage suit against house builder C. P. Benton came up for trial.

She lost. Judge Grover Lee Small said she failed to prove she had suffered damages when her basement developed a leak.

But the judge said Mrs. Fowler, whose only legal training was a brief study of Library of Congress lawbooks, did a "beautiful job for a layman."

Lana Hoping For Custody Of Daughter

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Movie star Lana Turner says she is just a mother hoping for custody of her child.

The future of the actress' 14-year-old daughter Cheryl rests with a silver-haired judge presiding at a juvenile court hearing.

Cheryl has been held since her mother's lover Johnny Stompanato was fatally stabbed April 4 in the boudoir of the actress' rented mansion. Police said Cheryl admitted plunging a kitchen knife into Stompanato's stomach when he threatened her mother.

A coroner's jury decided the slaying was justifiable homicide. However, this ruling is not binding on Superior Judge Allen T. Lynch, who sits each Thursday in Juvenile Court.

Among the 18 witnesses summoned were Cheryl, Lana and Steve Crane, second of Miss Turner's four husbands and Cheryl's father.

Cheryl could be sent home with her mother. Or Judge Lynch could place her in custody of her father or her maternal grandmother Mrs. Mildred Turner, or place her in a foster home or a state institution.

The judge could also order the girl tried as an adult for murder or manslaughter, but this is highly unlikely.

Gasoline Pipeline Sprays Home Site

TOLEDO (AP)—The Paul A. Ball family in nearby Oregon was forced to evacuate its home Wednesday following a break in an eight-inch pipeline carrying high octane gasoline.

The break sprayed the Ball home with gasoline and poured hundreds of gallons of the flammable liquid into a nearby field.

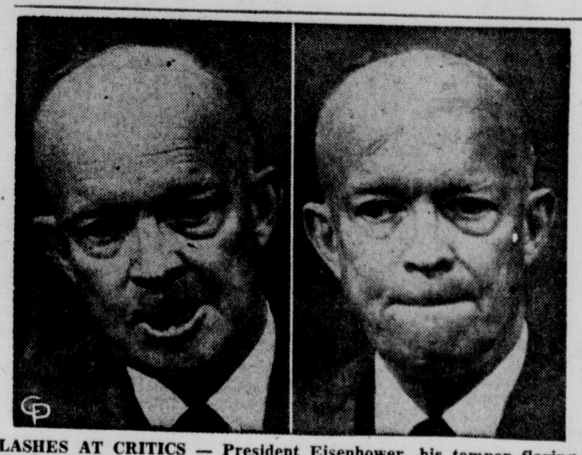

Residents in the area were warned to extinguish stoves and furnaces and more than two square miles were blocked off to traffic for several hours while firemen flushed storm sewers.

Libel Suit Threat Hurled Against Rainier

NICE, France (AP) — Sir Bernard Docker says he's going to get the best libel lawyer he can find to sue Prince Rainier's Monaco for having him and his wife kicked off the French Riviera.

"This affair will cost Monaco 200 million francs (almost half a million dollars)," raged the British industrialist.

"They are fools," snorted his blonde wife, Lady Norah Docker of the gold-plated Daimlers, marble championships and other headline-grabbing pursuits.

LASHES AT CRITICS — President Eisenhower, his temper flaring repeatedly, hit back at critics of his Pentagon proposals at a news conference in which he also (1) rebuked a woman reporter for her statement about a possible "personalized military force" coming out of such proposals, (2) branded Democratic unemployment pay plan a "dole" and (3) refused comment with an explosive "No!" on Senator Mike Mansfield's assertion that a "tenuous truce" exists in Korea.

Khrush Rejects Ike's Idea For New Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has rejected a proposal from President Eisenhower to start new disarmament negotiations by opening East-West talks on arms control measures.

The turndown, in a Khrushchev letter to Eisenhower made public Wednesday night, is the latest in a series of Soviet moves which have raised grave doubt here as to whether Moscow is presently prepared to enter any serious negotiations with the West on terms it does not dictate.

To explore Soviet intentions further on this point, the United States, Britain and France have decided to urge the U.S.S.R. to agree promptly to joint diplomatic talks in Moscow on summit conference arrangements and issues.

The Khrushchev letter got prompt attention from Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, who met at the White House late Wednesday. Press secretary James Hagerty said it was a reply to a letter from Eisenhower to Khrushchev of April 8 and that it did not contain anything new.

* * *

LATER, ACTING on behalf of the White House, the State Department said that Khrushchev's letter rejects the main point of the President's letter of April 8, in which Eisenhower had urged that the Soviet Union agree to technical disarmament studies covering control measures for both nuclear and conventional arms.

A Tass summary of the Khrushchev note was broadcast by Radio Moscow. It said Khrushchev wrote that Eisenhower's reply to his previous message does not show U.S. readiness to follow the Soviet example in announcing an end to nuclear weapons tests.

Khrushchev also complained that the Eisenhower letter "attempts to cast doubt on the sincerity of he Soviet move."

"The President declared that the USSR undertook this measure after having tested nuclear weapons, but is it not a fact that the United States has conducted far more atomic and hydrogen weapons tests than the USSR?" he wrote.

"Could not the United States show initiative in discontinuing experiments after any one of its tests?" he asked.

In his previous letter, made public April 4, Khrushchev asked Britain and the United States to announce a ban to match the Soviet action. He said that if they did not do so, the Soviet Union would feel free to continue its tests.

The United States and Britain have spring and summer nuclear weapons tests scheduled in the Pacific.

New Labor Bill Showdown Near

Knowland Bucking Liberal Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) bucked a coalition of Democrats and Republicans today in an effort to force showdown votes in the Senate this week on broad proposals to regulate labor unions.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader, said he will give his colleagues a chance to "show whether they want to do something about the abuses within the labor unions with which the country now is familiar."

Knowland's proposals, including requirements for secret ballots, are designed to give union members more control within their unions. They are generally opposed by labor leaders.

His announced plan to offer them as amendments to a less controversial bill for regulation of employe welfare and pension funds caused a delay in consideration of that measure. But the Senate decided to go into early-and-late sessions to resolve the issue.

* * *

KNOWLAND FACED consolidated opposition from the Democratic leadership and Republicans who class themselves as liberals.

Sen. Ives (R-NY), one of the latter and a member of the Senate Labor Committee which approved the pending bill, said he believes at least a dozen Republican votes will be cast against Knowland's proposals.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who has urged the Senate not to attach "crippling" amendments to the pending measure, obviously believed he could supply sufficient Democratic votes to the coalition to stop Knowland's drive.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman will go to Albany Friday to address the 89th convocation of the Board of Regents, which runs the state university system, and to accept an honorary degree.

On arrival here Wednesday, he was told former President Herbert Hoover also is getting an honorary degree in Albany. It will be accepted by Allan Hoover, because his father is jecuperating from an operation.

Truman commented, "I'm sorry that he won't be there. We always have a lot of fun when we get together."

Reminded that he and Hoover compose the total membership of the smallest club in the United States, Truman replied: "Yes he's the president of it and I'm the secretary."

2 Men Questioned In Marion Holdup

COLUMBUS (AP) — Daniel E. Wells, 22, of Carroll, and Richard L. Moss, 24, of Columbus, were arrested Wednesday night for questioning in the $4,000 robbery of a Marion County gunsmith.

The men, detectives said, denied the robbery and carried none of the loot. They were arrested about two hours after two men robbed Milo Hills, a gun expert, at his farm home in northeastern Marion County near Kirkpatrick.

Hills told police that the robbers, besides taking the money, took several pistols from gun displays.

General War Views Aired

Army, Air Force, Navy Aides Outline Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay said today the threat of general war increases each day as Russia grows stronger.

But Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said general war is less likely than limited wars because of the nuclear strength of both sides.

Taylor, Army chief of staff, and LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, prepared their remarks for the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. Adm. Harry D. Felt, vice chief of naval operations, also joined in the military discussions.

LeMay and Taylor differed on "mutual deterrence" —the idea that with each side able to destroy the other with nuclear weapons, neither will start a war.

"The Air Force believes in deterrence," LeMay said. "We do not, however, believe in the false security that derives from believing the myth of mutual deterrence."

* * *

TAYLOR expressed the view that "under such condition, we are probably justified in assuming that neither side would voluntarily start a general atomic war," but he added: "It does not follow that the Soviet bloc will renounce other forms of aggression as a means of gaining their ends."

Felt spoke out strongly for the Navy's fleet ballistic missile system, in which intermediate range Polaris ballistic missiles are to be fired from submerged nuclear submarines off the coast of an enemy.

All three officers agreed on the possibility of limited war, including the possibility that limited war could grow into general war.

Steel Sale Tie-In Claim Is Disputed

NEW YORK (AP) — Two defense witnesses challenged previous testimony that Bethlehem Steel Corp. uses tie-in sales to squeeze out small steel companies.

Testifying Wednesday in a government antitrust suit seeking to bar a proposed merger of Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. were Luther B. Beck, president of the Alpha Tank Co. Inc., of New York City, and Roger A. Yoder, a vice president of the Detroit Steel Co.

The trial resumes today.

Beck said his firm had bought steel from Bethlehem for years, but hadn't made a purchase of wire rope since 1950. He was asked:

"Did the Bethlehem company or any one connected with them ever tell you that in order to buy tank steel you had to buy wire rope?"

"No," replied Beck.

Last week Frederick B. Paulsen, of the Paulsen-Webber Cordage Corp., a wire rope concern, testified his salesmen had steadily lost business because of Bethlehem tie-ins on wire rope.

Asked if he ever told Paulsen that he was "forced to buy wire rope from Bethlehem" in order to get steel from them, Beck said:

"I could never have told him that."

Yoder also contradicted previous testimony that Bethlehem had refused to sell wire rope to him without accompanying orders for steel sheets.

Taller Girls Found To Be Best Adjusted

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Tall girls are better adjusted than short ones.

Why? Probably because they have been looked up to most of their lives.

A student and a psychology professor of Pomona College, Claremont, Calif., reported these findings Wednesday to the Western Psychology Assn.

The investigators queried 50 Pomona College coeds at random to learn at what height a girl considers herself tall.

Eighty per cent of those who were 5 feet 7 or above regarded themselves as tall. Sixty-six per cent of 5-foot-6ers considered themselves average.

So 5 feet 7 was used as the marker for a tall girl.

Fifty coeds (half that tall or taller, the rest shorter) were given two standard psychological tests. Results:

Those coeds who consider themselves tall are also more ascendant—that is, they stand up better for their rights and tend to be leaders.

They're also better adjusted, more optimistic, more cheerful, more even in mood, more socially oriented, more tolerant of others and more alike in their responses.

Conferees Kill 5-Cent Letter Postage Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees meet again today to try to finish work on a postal rate and pay increase bill from which they have eliminated the five-cent letter stamp.

The conferees voted Wednesday to knock out the five-cent temporary rate on out-of-town letters inserted by the Senate in its version of the bill. They accepted a straight four-cent charge voted by the House last year.

The vote was a defeat for President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield, who had asked for a permanent five-cent rate on the intercity mail along with four cents on other letters.

One Republican senator said he believed the bill, if passed, would run into a presidential veto because of these actions of the conferees: knocking out the five-cent stamp, approving a pay raise for the 500,000 postal employes far beyond what the President proposed, and making the pay boost retroactive to Jan. 1. The administration had opposed any retroactivity.

The pay increase approved by the conferees would total about $257 million annually compared with $320 million in the Senate bill and $160 million recommended by the President.

House OKs Special School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a special school aid bill after rejecting a move to deny such federal help to racially segregated schools.

Acting by voice vote, the House Wednesday sent to the Senate a bill to continue for three years a program providing aid in construction and operation of schools in areas where an influx of federal workers has overburdened classroom facilities.

An estimated 3,300 school districts benefit under the legislation which is expected to cost $211 million the first year.

Top Secret Nose Cone Feared Lost

Test Rated Success Although Tracking Gear Proves Faulty

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force hurled a two-stage missile some 5,000 miles out across the southeast Atlantic Wednesday night, but today there were doubts that its top secret nose — needed for study — would be recovered.

Because some of the telemetry equipment aboard the Thar - Vangard combination failed to function, the missile's course could not be followed as accurately as had been planned.

However, the Air Force confirmed that the nose cone had attained intercontinental range — possibly 5,500 miles.

This meant it was the longest flight any American ballistic missile has yet attained. It required only about 30 minutes to travel to the Ascension Island area off the African coast.

The Soviet Union has made claims of intercontinental ballistic missile flights at full range. The only U. S. missile that previously has flown full intercontinental range is the jet-powered Snark which requires about eight or nine hours for the flight.

* * *

WEDNESDAY'S mission was to launch the highly advanced and elaborately equipped cone 80 miles up in space and then 5,500 miles southeastward to a previously selected impact area near Ascension.

The launching was sensationally successful, and the flight appeared to be perfect.

Some of the radio reporting equipment in the second stage failed. One Air Force expert said that without all the telemetry equipment "I wouldn't give two bits right now for our chances of finding the nose cone. There's an awful lot of water in the south Atlantic. But the outlook may brighten tomorrow."

The rocket, a Thor 1,500-mile missile into the nose of which the second stage of a Vanguard satellite rocket had been set like a candle, took off at 7:10 p. m.

The Air Force said the exhausted first stage burned out and fell away exactly according to program.

The second stage ignited immediately and bore the missile onward.

Observers said the missile traveled straight and true as long as it could be seen.

After the burnout of its second stage, the missile nose would continue on ballistically, like a rock hurled into a long arc.

Wild Storms Lash Parts Of Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent storms lashed central and southern sections of the Midwest Thursday, dominating the wet weather belt from the Rockies to the Appalachians.

Tornadic winds whipped across the middle Mississippi Valley during the night and early morning, hammering hardest in parts of Missouri and central and southern Illinois.

Tornado funnels were reported over wide areas of the two states but none reportedly touched the ground. Thunderstorms, with strong winds and hail in some areas, hit many sections. No injuries were reported.

Light snow continued in the Rockies and rescue crews were hampered in digging through huge snowdrifts to reach an undetermined number of marooned campers in the snowbound Montana mountain town of Red Lodge. A record 42-inch snowfall hit the 5,600-foot high town of 3,000. Drifts were as high as 10 feet.

The Khrushchev letter got prompt attention from Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, who met at the White House late Wednesday. Press secretary James Hagerty said it was a reply to a letter from Eisenhower to Khrushchev of April 8 and that it did not contain anything new.

• • •

LATER, ACTING on behalf of the White House, the State Department said that Khrushchev's letter rejects the main point of the President's letter of April 8, in which Eisenhower had urged that the Soviet Union agree to technical disarmament studies covering control measures for both nuclear and conventional arms.

A Tass summary of the Khrushchev note was broadcast by Radio Moscow. It said Khrushchev wrote that Eisenhower's reply to his previous message does not show U.S. readiness to follow the Soviet example in announcing an end to nuclear weapons tests.

Khrushchev also complained that the Eisenhower letter "attempts to cast doubt on the sincerity of he Soviet move."

"The President declared that the USSR undertook this measure after having tested nuclear weapons, but is it not a fact that the United States has conducted far more atomic and hydrogen weapons tests than the USSR?" he wrote.

"Could not the United States show initiative in discontinuing experiments after any one of its tests?" he asked.

In his previous letter, made public April 4, Khrushchev asked Britain and the United States to announce a ban to match the Soviet action. He said that if they did not do so, the Soviet Union would feel free to continue its tests.

The United States and Britain have spring and summer nuclear weapons tests scheduled in the Pacific.

Truman Is Sorry Hoover To Miss New York Rites

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman will go to Albany Friday to address the 89th convocation of the Board of Regents, which runs the state university system, and to accept an honorary degree.

On arrival here Wednesday, he was told former President Herbert Hoover also is getting an honorary degree in Albany. It will be accepted by Allan Hoover, because his father is jecuperating from an operation.

Truman commented, "I'm sorry that he won't be there. We always have a lot of fun when we get together."

Reminded that he and Hoover compose the total membership of the smallest club in the United States, Truman replied: "Yes he's the president of it and I'm the secretary."

New Labor Bill Showdown Near

Knowland Bucking Liberal Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) bucked a coalition of Democrats and Republicans today in an effort to force showdown votes in the Senate this week on broad proposals to regulate labor unions.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader, said he will give his colleagues a chance to "show whether they want to do something about the abuses within the labor unions with which the country now is familiar."

Knowland's proposals, including requirements for secret ballots, are designed to give union members more control within their unions. They are generally opposed by labor leaders.

His announced plan to offer them as amendments to a less controversial bill for regulation of employe welfare and pension funds caused a delay in consideration of that measure. But the Senate decided to go into early-and-late sessions to resolve the issue.

• • •

KNOWLAND FACED consolidated opposition from the Democratic leadership and Republicans who class themselves as liberals.

Sen. Ives (R-NY), one of the latter and a member of the Senate Labor Committee which approved the pending bill, said he believes at least a dozen Republican votes will be cast against Knowland's proposals.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who has urged the Senate not to attach "crippling" amendments to the pending measure, obviously believed he could supply sufficient Democratic votes to the coalition to stop Knowland's drive.

2 Men Questioned In Marion Holdup

COLUMBUS (AP) — Daniel E. Wells, 22, of Carroll, and Richard L. Moss, 24, of Columbus, were arrested Wednesday night for questioning in the $4,000 robbery of a Marion County gunsmith.

The men, detectives said, denied the robbery and carried none of the loot. They were arrested about two hours after two men robbed Milo Hills, a gun expert, at his farm home in northeastern Marion County near Kirkpatrick.

Hills told police that the robbers, besides taking the money, took several pistols from gun displays.

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Wearing a borrowed overcoat, William Heikkila left Helsinki airport today on his return jourey to the United States. A bunch of flowers and a box of chocolates was his only luggage.

Swing ordered his return at U. S. expense after a federal judge scheduled a hearing to determine whether he had been deported illegally.

General War Views Aired

Army, Air Force, Navy Aides Outline Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay said today the threat of general war increases each day as Russia grows stronger.

But Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said general war is less likely than limited wars because of the nuclear strength of both sides.

Taylor, Army chief of staff, and LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, prepared their remarks for the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. Adm. Harry D. Felt, vice chief of naval operations, also joined in the military discussions.

LeMay and Taylor differed on "mutual deterrence" —the idea that with each side able to destroy the other with nuclear weapons, neither will start a war.

"The Air Force believes in deterrence," LeMay said. "We do not, however, believe in the false security that derives from believing the myth of mutual deterrence."

• • •

TAYLOR expressed the view that "under such condition, we are probably justified in assuming that neither side would voluntarily start a general atomic war," but he added: "It does not follow that the Soviet bloc will renounce other forms of aggression as a means of gaining their ends."

Felt spoke out strongly for the Navy's fleet ballistic missile system, in which intermediate range Polaris ballistic missiles are to be fired from submerged nuclear submarines off the coast of an enemy.

All three officers agreed on the possibility of limited war, including the possibility that limited war could grow into general war.

Steel Sale Tie-In Claim Is Disputed

NEW YORK (AP) — Two defense witnesses challenged previous testimony that Bethlehem Steel Corp. uses tie-in sales to squeeze out small steel companies.

Testifying Wednesday in a government antitrust suit seeking to bar a proposed merger of Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. were Luther B. Beck, president of the Alpha Tank Co. Inc., of New York City, and Roger A. Yoder, a vice president of the Detroit Steel Co.

The trial resumes today.

Beck said his firm had bought steel from Bethlehem for years, but hadn't made a purchase of wire rope since 1950. He was asked:

"Did the Bethlehem company or any one connected with them ever tell you that in order to buy tank steel you had to buy wire rope?"

"No," replied Beck.

Last week Frederick B. Paulsen, of the Paulsen-Webber Cordage Corp., a wire rope concern, testified his salesmen had steadily lost business because of Bethlehem tie-ins on wire rope.

Asked if he ever told Paulsen that he was "forced to buy wire rope from Bethlehem" in order to get steel from them, Beck said:

"I could never have told him that."

Yoder also contradicted previous testimony that Bethlehem had refused to sell wire rope to him without accompanying orders for steel sheets.

Taller Girls Found To Be Best Adjusted

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Tall girls are better adjusted than short ones.

Why? Probably because they have been looked up to most of their lives.

A student and a psychology professor of Pomona College, Claremont, Calif., reported these findings Wednesday to the Western Psychology Assn.

The investigators queried 50 Pomona College coeds at random to learn at what height a girl considers herself tall.

Eighty per cent of those who were 5 feet 7 or above regarded themselves as tall. Sixty-six per cent of 5-foot-6ers considered themselves average.

So 5 feet 7 was used as the marker for a tall girl.

Fifty coeds (half that tall or taller, the rest shorter) were given two standard psychological tests. Results:

Those coeds who consider themselves tall are also more ascendant—that is, they stand up better for their rights and tend to be leaders.

They're also better adjusted, more optimistic, more cheerful, more even in mood, more socially oriented, more tolerant of others and more alike in their responses.

Conferees Kill 5-Cent Letter Postage Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees meet again today to try to finish work on a postal rate and pay increase bill from which they have eliminated the five-cent letter stamp.

The conferees voted Wednesday to knock out the five-cent temporary rate on out-of-town letters inserted by the Senate in its version of the bill. They accepted a straight four-cent charge voted by the House last year.

The vote was a defeat for President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield, who had asked for a permanent five-cent rate on the intercity mail along with four cents on other letters.

One Republican senator said he believed the bill, if passed, would run into a presidential veto because of these actions of the conferees: knocking out the five-cent stamp, approving a pay raise for the 500,000 postal employes far beyond what the President proposed, and making the pay boost retroactive to Jan. 1. The administration had opposed any retroactivity.

The pay increase approved by the conferees would total about $257 million annually compared with $320 million in the Senate bill and $160 million recommended by the President.

House OKs Special School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a special school aid bill after rejecting a move to deny such federal help to racially segregated schools.

Acting by voice vote, the House Wednesday sent to the Senate a bill to continue for three years a program providing aid in construction and operation of schools in areas where an influx of federal workers has overburdened classroom facilities.

An estimated 3,300 school districts benefit under the legislation which is expected to cost $211 million the first year.

Top Secret Nose Cone Feared Lost

Test Rated Success Although Tracking Gear Proves Faulty

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force hurled a two-stage missile some 5,000 miles out across the southeast Atlantic Wednesday night, but today there were doubts that its top secret nose — needed for study — would be recovered.

Because some of the telemetry equipment aboard the Thar - Vangard combination failed to function, the missile's course could not be followed as accurately as had been planned.

However, the Air Force confirmed that the nose cone had attained intercontinental range — possibly 5,500 miles.

This meant it was the longest flight any American ballistic missile has yet attained. It required only about 30 minutes to travel to the Ascension Island area off the African coast.

The Soviet Union has made claims of intercontinental ballistic missile flights at full range. The only U. S. missile that previously has flown full intercontinental range is the jet-powered Snark which requires about eight or nine hours for the flight.

• • •

WEDNESDAY'S mission was to launch the highly advanced and elaborately equipped cone 80 miles up in space and then 5,500 miles southeastward to a previously selected impact area near Ascension.

The launching was sensationally successful, and the flight appeared to be perfect.

Some of the radio reporting equipment in the second stage failed. One Air Force expert said that without all the telemetry equipment "I wouldn't give two bits right now for our chances of finding the nose cone. There's an awful lot of water in the south Atlantic. But the outlook may brighten tomorrow."

The rocket, a Thor 1,500-mile missile into the nose of which the second stage of a Vanguard satellite rocket had been set like a candle, took off at 7:10 p. m.

The Air Force said the exhausted first stage burned out and fell away exactly according to program.

The second stage ignited immediately and bore the missile onward.

Observers said the missile traveled straight and true as long as it could be seen.

After the burnout of its second stage, the missile nose would continue on ballistically, like a rock hurled into a long arc.

Wild Storms Lash Parts Of Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent storms lashed central and southern sections of the Midwest Thursday, dominating the wet weather belt from the Rockies to the Appalachians.

Tornadic winds whipped across the middle Mississippi Valley during the night and early morning, hammering hardest in parts of Missouri and central and southern Illinois.

Tornado funnels were reported over wide areas of the two states but none reportedly touched the ground. Thunderstorms, with strong winds and hail in some areas, hit many sections. No injuries were reported.

Light snow continued in the Rockies and rescue crews were hampered in digging through huge snowdrifts to reach an undetermined number of marooned campers in the snowbound Montana mountain town of Red Lodge. A record 42-inch snowfall hit the 5,600-foot high town of 3,000. Drifts were as high as 10 feet.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Board of Christian Education of the Evangelical and Reformed Church today urged members of the denomination to give strong support to public schools.

The statement urged opposition to any diversion of tax money to non-public schools and proposes endorsement of released times for religious instruction. It also endorsed higher school taxes and salaries to improve schools.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Air Force has ordered a formal investigation of reports of jets stunting dangerously close to commercial airliners.

PARIS (AP) — The French Foreign Ministry said today Egyptian reports of an agreement between Egypt and the old Suez Canal Co. are without any foundatio.

"A new meeting between Egypt, World Bank represetatives and the Suez Canal Co. has been proposed to the Egyptian government, which has not yet answered," a ministry spokesman told reporters.

Despite the denials, Egyptian officials stood by their report of Wednesday that the company's owners and Egypt had agreed on a formula for settlement.

Settlement of the dispute would help toward restoring normal relations between Egypt and the West. They broke down after Egypt's President Nasser nationalized the canal in 1956.

Rocket Experiment Safety

Teen-agers growing up in the first decade of the age of space travel have a normal interest in rocketry which is being met agross the country by efforts at suppression each time a homemade rocket blows up and kills or maims a child.

It is just as difficult to keep dangerous rockets out of the hands of children today as it was to keep them from tinkering with radio sets 30 years ago.

After all, Wernher von Braun got his start with rockets he built and fired from an isolated field near Berlin. If he had blown himself up in an early trial, there might have been no buzz bombs to make the London nights exciting in the 1940s, but neither might there be a pair of Explorers in the sky today.

The Atlantic Research Corporation of Alexandria Va., has an interest in developing amateur rocketry in order to increase the future supply of missile engineers.

DeWitt O. Myatt, manager of development for ARC, has prepared a 24-page booklet, "Rocket Experiment Safety," which compares the current booming rocket hobby with hotrod racing of some years back when poor organization or none at all brought the hotrodders into ill repute with the public. Today hot-rodders are a recognized and respected hobby group, and Dr. Myatt feels the same situation should be encouraged for young rocketeers.

Detailed warnings of the danger of poor design, bad handling of propellants, and lack of protection during the count down and firing are enough to instill wisdom about proper supervision and precautions in the mind of the flightiest boy. To let boys catch a glimpse of the scientific attitude toward rocketry, a series of simple experiments are outlines.

The booklet tells how to organize a rocket club and suggests affiliation with the American Rocket Society, 500 Fifty Avenue, New York, which is planning a national registry of youth rocket clubs.

U.S. Should Be Winning Cold War

The United States should be winning the cold war. This nation has great assets that Russia cannot match. The disappointing progress being made can only be attributed to incompetence in high places.

U .S. military power is great, and it costs the average American family hundreds of dollars a year to maintain it. But the public is frequently being told that this military power could not administer decisive defeat to Russia in a "hot" war, or build a stable peace afterward.

This country's economic power is great, too, and its wealth is admired and envied. But handouts of billions have done little more than maintain a deadlock in Europe, and they haven't done that in Asia.

Without all this material strength, military and economic, America would certainly lose the cold war. But this country is not winning it. And a major reason seems to be that Russia, the prime materialist power of the age, is getting the better of America on the propaganda front. Why this should be so is incomprehensible. The taxpayers are pouring out the money. But too many persons engaged in spending it seem to act as if the fight on communism were a distasteful chore.

Folies Now Nuder Than Ever

By Hal Boyle

By PIERRE LEGROS
For HAL BOYLE

PARIS (AP)—The Folies Bergere is back and nuder than ever, right from the opening curtain.

French law requires at least a G-string, and the famed show complies. But the G-strings are so small the girls can take them home in a compact.

The Folies Bergere closed its doors some four months ago when 67 stagehands demanded more money. Manager Paul Derval, who spends half a million dollars on each show, said he had no more money for the stagehands.

The stagehands quickly compromised to the relief of thousands of people around the world whose memory of "Gay Paree" most likely includes visions of leggy nudes from the lavish show.

This year's is about the most risque show ever produced at the Folies. It gets started with a nude girl dancing by a river bank. Along comes a young boy similarly clothed for a dimly lit dance.

Suddenly the lights come up, the nudes are gone and the stage is populated with richly costumed girls.

Despite all the girls and their costumes or lack of same, there is not much in the show to shock your maiden aunt, unless she is just opposed to nudity.

Each tableaux is a deluge of color, ostrich feathers, and brocade. More than 1,000 pounds of feathers were used in this year's costumes and several hundred miles of material are draped over the 100 girls who troop about the stage.

Striking effects are made by experienced stagehands and electricians who probley know more about lighting and female body than did Renoir.

The most impressive effect this season is a huge chandelier which descends from the ceiling bearing eight long-limbed girls wreathed in smiles but nothing more.

What the Folies seems to lack is a real star like the famed Mistinguett. For several years Derval has been pushing red-haired Yvonne Menard to that coveted position. Derval's efforts have not been altogether successful. Yvonne lacks the bouncy character of a Mistinguett and admits herself that she can't sing.

Seats in the main hall sell for slightly over $5. A big share of the audience today is made up of Americans, tourists and many GIs on leave.

A sign at the entrance says in English, "Beware. Do not drop chewing gum on the carpets." There is no such sign in French.

Sun Sitters and Gossip Spreaders

By George Sokolsky

Sun worshippers are as old as there are people, but why anyone likes just sitting in the sun and getting a brown skin, is something hard for me, a roomsitter, quite to understand.

In the first place, it is impossible to read in the blinding sun of the Florida beaches. Of course, you might say: who needs to read when one can talk? But how is it possible to talk when all the women are talking? And some are singing, not musically, but just enough to make you turn around, so that you look. And when you look, what do you see? Just another woman who wants to be looked at. Why does she want to be looked at?

Alas! The years are fading. The face might have been that of a sweet and kindly grandmother, perhaps like Whistler's "mother" but for the manipulations of the beauticians who insist upon taking years off a face by rubbing out all the kindly lines that make for character and gentleness.

And so one sits and the sun and the wind color one a nut brown. The deeper the brown, the more the proof is that one has stayed at an expensive hotel at Miami Beach; that one has paid plenty a day not only for a room in a hotel but also for a cabana. It is a way of life that knows no depressions, no bad times, no worry because it provides status in certain circles.

In a country which has no aristocracy, how does one gain an acknowledged status? It used to be done, in the up-building era of our history, by working diligently, getting a good reputation, marrying properly and staying married properly and ending up either with money in the bank like Andrew Carnegie or by doing something outstanding like becoming president of such a university as Columbia or Harvard.

In these days, such slow processes of achieving anything are most trying. One takes shortcuts, like getting a head-waiter to provide an important table, or getting one's name repeated often in a gossip column, or being seen on public occasions with big shots or having the money to be seen out with a flashy gal —particularly one whose reputation is unusually notorious so that a gossip might say that Nellie Bly, or whatever her name is, grows more popular every day, having been given a zillion carat diamond by somebody's husband. On Monday night, she was seen with A; on Tuesday with B; and so on through the alphabet.

Among the poor, such folks are called B girls and they prowl the bars to find their men. In the upper classes, they often go by various European titles even if they originate in Philadelphia or Biloxi. The titles might be according to the Almanach de Gotha or according to Cholly Knickerbocker, but they are sacredly guarded lest the plain American stick out like an overlong lip.

Apparently being just an American is not good enough in these bars where social position is determined by whether one sits in a chair or on a leather-covered bench in something that used to be called a booth, but now is called by a French name.

But to get back to the American Zoroastrians, who sit on the beach all day long to sun themselves until they look brown, I tried to figure their conversation and found it all gossip. There is no Sputnik; there is no recession; there are no Arabs; there is nothing to worry about but why Mrs. So-and-So cannot held a husband.

It is a wonderful experience watching the sun worshippers chirping about each other day after day, hour after hour. Perhaps gossip has its value and its pleasures but it can become a repetitious bore. Who knows anyone well enough to know why one sits in loneliness to take the sun and then listens to petty gossip which when repeated never sounds even remotely clever?

The answer may be that those who have not found a useful life must find some kind of life, even if it is only to ask, did you hear that Mrs. So-and-So can't get a divorce because they really were never married? What tragic jokes we humans play on ourselvs!

Humphrey Doubts Slump To Worsen

PITTSBURGH (AP) — George M. Humphrey, chairman of National Steel Corp. and former secretary of the Treasury, believes the recession probably won't become any worse unless the public becomes alarmed.

"I can't see anything that would throw us into a further decline unless people become alarmed by the rising cost-of-living in the face of continued unemployment," he said.

He predicted an upward trend in the economy generally and the steel business specifically in the last half of this year.

Heredity Small Role in Cancer

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Many of you who are reading this column are carrying a secret burden—a burden of fear. You are afraid you are doomed to die of cancer because your father, mother, sister or brother died of this disease. You fear you will inherit or already have inherited cancer.

Well, let me put this fear to rest right now.

I'm not going to tell you that heredity doesn't play a part in the cancer picture. Indications are that it does, but not in the proportion that most of you probably believe.

As with some other diseases, heredity sometimes influences development of some cancers. However, studies show that instances where heredity plays a critical part in development of cancer are relatively rare.

Now we are pretty sure that a variety of factors influence development of cancer. We know what some of them are, but, of course, not all of them.

Heredity might be a predisposing factor. It might help set the stage for development of cancer, but we don't believe that it is an actual cause. And if it is a predisposing factor it apparently is so only in limited types of cancer.

You have heard reports, I'm sure, that cancer "runs in a family"; that several members of one family have been striken with the disease.

Well, cancer kills about 250,000 Americans every year. In that number there are bound to be some relatives.

What about the disease having killed several generations in the same family? Only recently has the diagonsis of cancer become reliable on a wide enough front to establish cancer as a definite cause of death. Who can be sure of reports made 30, 40 and 50 years ago?

Experiments with animals indicate that certain types of cancer might be hereditary—in animals.

So far as humans are concerned, however, the role heredity plays in cancer appears to be so small that it should be no cause for worry.

Question and Answer

A. B.: I have pyorrhea. How should I have it treated?

Answer: Usually a person suffering from pyorrhea should have his dentist scale the teeth to remove any tartar and other deposits that accumulate between the teeth around the gum lining. Surgical treatment may be helpful.

You should brush your teeth at least twice a day, as well as massage the gums.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — What's an unemployment dole? While Democrats and Republicans argue about it, one thing is certain: the present unemployment pay system is inadequate.

This recession proves it. So does the agreement by Democrats and Republicans to do something about it. But what they propose is a temporary cure. The end result may be some permanent improvements in the system.

House Democrats have come up with a plan which would provide government money outright, a gift, to extend unemployment pay not only to the jobless people who've used what they're entitled to under state laws, but also to many, never eligible under the present system. President Eisenhower Wednesday called that a "dole. . . nothing else."

Under Eisenhower's own proposal to extend expired benefits, the money from the government would be a loan to the states, to be repaid in cash or higher taxes.

This is the background:

This country—which had lagged far behind Europe in providing some kind of pay for people who lost their jobs through no fault of their own—began its unemployment insurance system in 1935. It was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1937.

It works this way: employers in all states—and employes, too, in a few states—are taxed. A fraction of the tax goes to the federal government. The rest goes into the individual states' funds.

The states then use this money to give weekly payments to workers who lose their jobs. The amount each unemployed worker gets, and how long he gets it, varies from state to state. For example:

Payments range from a minimum of $3 a week in Mississippi to a maximum of $45 in Alaska and from a minimum of 16 weeks in Florida to 30 weeks in Pennsylvania. Thirty-one states have a maximum of 26 weeks.

Repeatedly, before this recession hit, Eisenhower asked the states to provide unemployment pay for 39 weeks everywhere. He was ignored. About 43 million workers are covered by the system if they lose their jobs.

But millions of workers are not covered and therefore can draw no unemployment benefits if they lose their jobs. For example: farm workers, the self-employed, domestics, and employes of nonprofit organizations.

Right now there are about 5,200,000 people out of jobs. Many thousands of them have exhausted all the unemployment pay due them. Perhaps as many as 2,100,000 more are not covered and are ineligible for unemployment pay. The Democratic plan would cover most of them too. Eisenhower's wouldn't.

This is what Eisenhower proposes to do about it:

Congress should vote 600 million dollars to be given the states as a loan to extend—for those jobless workers who have used up all their benefits—their unemployment pay for half as long again as their state law allows. That would mean another 13 weeks at the same rate in a state with a maximum of 26 weeks of payments.

Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill—which means nothing unless passed by the full House and Senate—to extend jobless pay for 16 weeks in all states.

They figure the cost to the federal government would be more than twice what Eisenhower asked —or $1,575,000,000—but the money would be a gift to the states, and not a loan, and therefore wouldn't have to be repaid.

Rocket Experiment Safety

Teen-agers growing up in the first decade of the age of space travel have a normal interest in rocketry which is being met agross the country by efforts at suppression each time a homemade rocket blows up and kills or maims a child.

It is just as difficult to keep dangerous rockets out of the hands of children today as it was to keep them from tinkering with radio sets 30 years ago.

After all, Wernher von Braun got his start with rockets he built and fired from an isolated field near Berlin. If he had blown himself up in an early trial, there might have been no buzz bombs to make the London nights exciting in the 1940s, but neither might there be a pair of Explorers in the sky today.

The Atlantic Research Corporation of Alexandria Va., has an interest in developing amateur rocketry in order to increase the future supply of missile engineers.

DeWitt O. Myatt, manager of development for ARC, has prepared a 24-page booklet, "Rocket Experiment Safety," which compares the current booming rocket hobby with hotrod racing of some years back when poor organization or none at all brought the hotrodders into ill repute with the public. Today hot-rodders are a recognized and respected hobby group, and Dr. Myatt feels the same situation should be encouraged for young rocketeers.

Detailed warnings of the danger of poor design, bad handling of propellants, and lack of protection during the count down and firing are enough to instill wisdom about proper supervision and precautions in the mind of the flightiest boy. To let boys catch a glimpse of the scientific attitude toward rocketry, a series of simple experiments are outlines.

The booklet tells how to organize a rocket club and suggests affiliation with the American Rocket Society, 500 Fifty Avenue, New York, which is planning a national registry of youth rocket clubs.

U.S. Should Be Winning Cold War

The United States should be winning the cold war. This nation has great assets that Russia cannot match. The disappointing progress being made can only be attributed to incompetence in high places.

U .S. military power is great, and it costs the average American family hundreds of dollars a year to maintain it. But the public is frequently being told that this military power could not administer decisive defeat to Russia in a "hot" war, or build a stable peace afterward.

This country's economic power is great, too, and its wealth is admired and envied. But handouts of billions have done little more than maintain a deadlock in Europe, and they haven't done that in Asia.

Without all this material strength, military and economic, America would certainly lose the cold war. But this country is not winning it. And a major reason seems to be that Russia, the prime materialist power of the age, is getting the better of America on the propaganda front. Why this should be so is incomprehensible. The taxpayers are pouring out the money. But too many persons engaged in spending it seem to act as if the fight on communism were a distasteful chore.

Folies Now Nuder Than Ever

By Hal Boyle

By PIERRE LEGROS
For HAL BOYLE

PARIS (AP)—The Folies Bergere is back and nuder than ever, right from the opening curtain.

French law requires at least a G-string, and the famed show complies. But the G-strings are so small the girls can take them home in a compact.

The Folies Bergere closed its doors some four months ago when 67 stagehands demanded more money. Manager Paul Derval, who spends half a million dollars on each show, said he had no more money for the stagehands.

The stagehands quickly compromised to the relief of thousands of people around the world whose memory of "Gay Paree" most likely includes visions of leggy nudes from the lavish show.

This year's is about the most risque show ever produced at the Folies. It gets started with a nude girl dancing by a river bank. Along comes a young boy similarly clothed for a dimly lit dance.

Suddenly the lights come up, the nudes are gone and the stage is populated with richly costumed girls.

Despite all the girls and their costumes or lack of same, there is not much in the show to shock your maiden aunt, unless she is just opposed to nudity.

Each tableaux is a deluge of color, ostrich feathers, and brocade. More than 1,000 pounds of feathers were used in this year's costumes and several hundred miles of material are draped over the 100 girls who troop about the stage.

Striking effects are made by experienced stagehands and electricians who probley know more about lighting and female body than did Renoir.

The most impressive effect this season is a huge chandelier which descends from the ceiling bearing eight long-limbed girls wreathed in smiles but nothing more.

What the Folies seems to lack is a real star like the famed Mistinguett. For several years Derval has been pushing redhaired Yvonne Menard to that coveted position. Derval's efforts have not been altogether successful. Yvonne lacks the bouncy character of a Mistinguett and admits herself that she can't sing.

Seats in the main hall sell for slightly over $5. A big share of the audience today is made up of Americans, tourists and many GIs on leave.

A sign at the entrance says in English, "Beware. Do not drop chewing gum on the carpets." There is no such sign in French.

Sun Sitters and Gossip Spreaders

By George Sokolsky

Sun worshippers are as old as there are people, but why anyone likes just sitting in the sun and getting a brown skin, is something hard for me, a roomsitter, quite to understand.

In the first place, it is impossible to read in the blinding sun of the Florida beaches. Of course, you might say: who needs to read when one can talk? But how is it possible to talk when all the women are talking? And some are singing, not musically, but just enough to make you turn around, so that you look. And when you look, what do you see? Just another woman who wants to be looked at. Why does she want to be looked at?

Alas! The years are fading. The figure has lost its form. The face might have been that of a sweet and kindly grandmother, perhaps like Whistler's "mother" but for the manipulations of the beauticians who insist upon taking years off a face by rubbing out all the kindly lines that make for character and gentleness.

And so one sits and the sun and the wind color one a nut brown. The deeper the brown, the more the proof is that one has stayed at an expensive hotel at Miami Beach; that one has paid plenty a day not only for a room in a hotel but also for a cabana. It is a way of life that knows no depressions, no bad times, no worry because it provides status in certain circles.

In a country which has no aristocracy, how does one gain an acknowledged status? It used to be done, in the up-building era of our history, by working diligently, getting a good reputation, marrying properly and staying married properly and ending up either with money in the bank like Andrew Carnegie or by doing something outstanding like becoming president of such a university as Columbia or Harvard.

In these days, such slow processes of achieving anything are most trying. One takes shortcuts, like getting a head-waiter to provide an important table, or getting one's name repeated often in a gossip column, or being seen on public occasions with big shots or having the money to be seen out with a flashy gal —particularly one whose reputation is unusually notorious so that a gossip might say that Nellie Bly, or whatever her name is, grows more popular every day, having been given a zillion carat diamond by somebody's husband. On Monday night, she was seen with A; on Tuesday with B; and so on through the alphabet.

Among the poor, such folks are called B girls and they prowl the bars to find their men. In the upper classes, they often go by various European titles even if they originate in Philadelphia or Biloxi. The titles might be according to the Almanach de Gotha or according to Cholly Knickerbocker, but they are sacredly guarded lest the plain American stick out like an overlong lip.

Apparently being just an American is not good enough in these bars where social position is determined by whether one sits in a chair or on a leather-covered bench in something that used to be called a booth, but now is called by a French name.

But to get back to the American Zoroastrians, who sit on the beach all day long to sun themselves until they look brown, I tried to figure their conversation and found it all gossip. There is no Sputnik; there is no recession; there are no Arabs; there is nothing to worry about but why Mrs. So-and-So cannot hold a husband.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — What's an unemployment dole? While Democrats and Republicans argue about it, one thing is certain: the present unemployment pay system is inadequate.

This recession proves it. So does the agreement by Democrats and Republicans to do something about it. But what they propose is a temporary cure. The end result may be some permanent improvements in the system.

House Democrats have come up with a plan which would provide government money outright, a gift, to extend unemployment pay not only to the jobless people who've used what they're entitled to under state laws, but also to many, never eligible under the present system. President Eisenhower Wednesday called that a "dole. . . nothing else."

Under Eisenhower's own proposal to extend expired benefits, the money from the government would be a loan to the states, to be repaid in cash or higher taxes.

This is the background:

This country—which had lagged far behind Europe in providing some kind of pay for people who lost their jobs through no fault of their own—began its unemployment insurance system in 1935. It was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1937.

It works this way: employers in all states—and employes, too, in a few states—are taxed. A fraction of the tax goes to the federal government. The rest goes into the individual states' funds.

The states then use this money to give weekly payments to workers who lose their jobs. The amount each unemployed worker gets, and how long he gets it, varies from state to state. For example:

Payments range from a minimum of $3 a week in Mississippi to a maximum of $45 in Alaska and from a minimum of 16 weeks in Florida to 30 weeks in Pennsylvania. Thirty-one states have a maximum of 26 weeks.

Repeatedly, before this recession hit, Eisenhower asked the states to provide unemployment pay for 39 weeks everywhere. He was ignored. About 43 million workers are covered by the system if they lose their jobs.

But millions of workers are not covered and therefore can draw no unemployment benefits if they lose their jobs. For example: farm workers, the self-employed, domestics, and employes of nonprofit organizations.

Right now there are about 5,200,000 people out of jobs. Many thousands of them have exhausted all the unemployment pay due them. Perhaps as many as 2,100,000 more are not covered and are ineligible for unemployment pay. The Democratic plan would cover most of them too. Eisenhower's wouldn't.

This is what Eisenhower proposes to do about it:

Congress should vote 600 million dollars to be given the states as a loan to extend—for those jobless workers who have used up all their benefits—their unemployment pay for half as long again as their state law allows. That would mean another 13 weeks at the same rate in a state with a maximum of 26 weeks of payments.

Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill—which means nothing unless passed by the full House and Senate—to extend jobless pay for 16 weeks in all states.

They figure the cost to the federal government would be more than twice what Eisenhower asked —or $1,575,000,000—but the money would be a gift to the states, and not a loan, and therefore wouldn't have to be repaid.

Easier Credit Being Felt in Grass Roots

Effectiveness in Doubt Because of Climb In Cost of Living

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The first of the anti-recession moves—easier credit and cheaper money — is beginning to take hold today at the grass roots level.

Its effectiveness is in doubt still because, for one thing, it is partly offset by the stubbornly rising cost of living.

It's easier today for business and individuals to borrow — and then spend. It's harder for individuals to balance their budgets and buy more—an anti-recession move of whose effectiveness there is little doubt.

The easier credit move was started last fall by the Federal Reserve Board. In a series of moves it has given the banks a sizably larger amount of money to lnd and it has forcd interest rates down —although it took really drastic steps to make the banks drop their charges for loans.

Business and individuals have been led to the trough of easier credit and cheaper money. It is still to be seen whether they'll drink.

Business is still borrowing large sums, both on short-term loans from the banks and on long-term issues sold to investors. But the demand for those loans isn't as great as it was.

And the authorities hope that the latest moves for easier credit terms and more available funds now will lead corporations to revive expansion plans and business ventures and thus bolster the slipping economy.

Individuals have been borrowing less, especially for such sizable houses. Easier credit is one of the purchases as new cars and new prescriptions which the Washington doctors hope will restore health to the many industries involved, and it is the first prescription so far to be made readily available to the patient. Others, such as tax cuts and public works, are still in the talking stage.

But what to do about the rising cost of living is a tough problem. Higher prices are as widely blamed as dwindling incomes for what decline there has been in consumer buying — and a reversal of this trend is earnestly sought.

Over the continuing high price of manufactured consumer goods there is much debate. Which comes first, the wage rise or the price rise? How much of the high cost of manufacturing is built in now and beyond pruning?

And if prices don't come down, will any other anti-recession move be able to turn the trick?

Actress Waits On TV To Grow

Anne Baxter Says Script Good Now

NEW YORK (AP)—When television was born a dozen years ago there were two ways for a movie actress to look at it, says Anne Baxter.

"Either you got in on the ground floor or you decided to wait and see if it grew into something good. I waited, and I'm glad I did, for I feel it's improved greatly."

Although Miss Baxter is not up to her neck in the medium and certainly not over her pretty head in it, she definitely has dipped a small foot into television.

Next Sunday, for example, she will play a young lady of slightly tarnished brassiness in Western stagecoach days on G. E. Theater (CBS-TV). "Stop-over" is, in her own words, loads o ffund.

Miss Baxter took the assignment because she believed it was a fine script. And a good script, she says, is essential if an actress would do a good job on the home screen.

Before Miss Baxter made her television debut on G. E. Theater a couple of years ago she read about 80 TV scripts over a long period of time—and turned down every one.

"To make a generalization about them," she said, "they either contained too much story or too little. Most of them were written by people who didn't understand the television medium because they felt superior to it."

But times have changed, she says, and the scripts are improving.

From the files of the American Cancer Society:

Yes! I had cancer

"Many people think cancer is incurable. They're wrong and I can prove it! So can 800,000 other Americans like me.

"On a gray morning in November, 1942, a specialist confirmed the diagnosis of cancer made by my family doctor. What he had to say reassured me.

"He explained that, thanks to my habit of having yearly checkups, my doctor had caught the cancer in its early stage. It was localized and it could be completely removed by surgery. So, here I am as hale and hearty as if I'd never had cancer!"

That was 15 years ago, when only 1 out of 4 persons with cancer was being cured. Today, thanks to improved methods of treatment, and earlier diagnosis, 1 person in 3 is being saved.

And with present knowledge, it can be 1 in 2, if everyone observes two simple precautions: Have a health checkup annually. Keep alert for cancer's seven danger signals.

Progress in the American Cancer Society's fight against cancer depends on the dollars donated for its broad, nation-wide program of research, education and service to the stricken.

Easier Credit Being Felt in Grass Roots

Effectiveness in Doubt Because of Climb In Cost of Living

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The first of the anti-recession moves—easier credit and cheaper money — is beginning to take hold today at the grass roots level.

Its effectiveness is in doubt still because, for one thing, it is partly offset by the stubbornly rising cost of living.

It's easier today for business and individuals to borrow — and then spend. It's harder for individuals to balance their budgets and buy more—an anti-recession move of whose effectiveness there is little doubt.

The easier credit move was started last fall by the Federal Reserve Board. In a series of moves it has given the banks a sizably larger amount of money to lnd and it has forced interest rates down —although it took really drastic steps to make the banks drop their charges for loans.

Business and individuals have been led to the trough of easier credit and cheaper money. It is still to be seen whether they'll drink.

Business is still borrowing large sums, both on short-term loans from the banks and on long-term issues sold to investors. But the demand for those loans isn't as great as it was.

And the authorities hope that the latest moves for easier credit terms and more available funds now will lead corporations to revive expansion plans and business ventures and thus bolster the slipping economy.

Individuals have been borrowing less, especially for such sizable houses. Easier credit is one of the purchases as new cars and new prescriptions which the Washington doctors hope will restore health to the many industries involved, and it is the first prescription so far to be made readily available to the patient. Others, such as tax cuts and public works, are still in the talking stage.

But what to do about the rising cost of living is a tough problem. Higher prices are as widely blamed as dwindling incomes for what decline there has been in consumer buying — and a reversal of this trend is earnestly sought.

Over the continuing high price of manufactured consumer goods there is much debate. Which comes first, the wage rise or the price rise? How much of the high cost of manufacturing is built in now and beyond pruning?

And if prices don't come down, will any other anti-recession move be able to turn the trick?

Reports of State Conference Presented to DAR Chapter

Reports of delegates to State Conference in Cincinnati highlighted the April meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held in the home of Mrs. George Roth, Sr., E. Main St. Twenty-nine members and three guests, including Mrs. C. E. Warner of the Ft. Snelling Chapter, DAR of Minneapolis, Minn., responded to the ritualistic opening conducted by Mrs. R. R. Bales, Regent, and Miss Florence Brown, Chaplain.

Mrs. Clarence McAbee led the Salute to the Flag followed by Mrs. James Moffitt who led the group in singing the National Anthem accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Peters.

Mrs. Emerson Spicer, chairman of American music, presented a reading on American Negro Music. Serious consideration of Negro music was evidenced after the Civil War when traveling choruses from several Negro Universities presented concerts throughout the country as a means to earn money thus discovering this type of music to be well received by the general public.

W. C. Handy, famous composer of St. Louis Blues, and other noted musicians helped to popularize this particular style and to make Jazz the first original American music. Both spiritual and secular themes of Negro melodies reflect a sensitivity to environment: Negro music, shaped by American experience and polished by the well known Negro love of song, being not merely an imported product but a dramatic, melodious expression of life.

Mrs. Stanley Beckett, Miss Marie Hamilton and Mrs. Bales related the activities of the State Conference. Eleven resolutions accepted by the Assembly, ranging from Respects to the late State Regent, Mrs. Jane C. Davis, to opposition to proposed alteration of the US Capitol facade, were explained.

"Suicide or survival" was the title of an address by Jessica Wyatt Payne, member of the W. Va. legislature, in which was stressed the theme that everyone should awaken to his responsibilities in the community, state and nation and not permit apathy and disinterest to harden into phlegmatic unconcern. "Silence is not golden, but yellow".

The Indian Breakfast, always a favorite with delegates to State Conference, heard Dr. Delonia, directir of Indian work at Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, speak of his disappointment in Congress' failure to pass a domestic point four program for economic assistance to the American Indian and St. Mary's School of Girls.

This school has an enrollment of eighty girls and its prosperity during the past year was due to the aid of the Ohio DAR, which ranked second in the country in support. One of the objectives of the school is pride: pride is being an Indiana, in St. Mary's, and in being an American.

At the approved schools luncheon, Mrs. Lola Wilson, executive secretary of Tamassee, related her duties at this institution. Tamassee means "place of sunlight and of God" and has 220 boys and girls besides day students. Some ride 40 miles a day to attend classes.

Memorial Services, presided over by the State Chaplain, Mrs. Martin Cromley, were held for all deceased members who passed away during the year and included three Real Granddaughters in the State and two members from our Chapter.

The Pickaway Plains Chapter, placed second in Advertizing and one gross of American flags were sold and credited to the Chapter. The formal banquet took place in the Hall of Mirrors.

The conference was adjourned until it reconvenes next year at Columbus.

Mrs. Richard Hedges, Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and correspondence from Alice Bonn, Mrs. E. T. Carstarphen and Kate Duncan Smith School. Members voted to partially support a boy to Forestry Camp.

Meeting adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess committee: Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. H. O. Borror, Mrs. J. L. Chilcote, Mrs. Forest Brown, Miss Benedine Yates, Mrs. Robert Graham, Miss Mary Spangler, Mrs. Forest Brown, Mrs. James Adams, Miss Ruth Montelius.

The next meeting will be May 20 at Williamsport with members from the community serving as hostesses.

Picnic Planned By Youth Group

The Helping Hand Class, Church of the Brethren, held its monthly meeting in the home of Chloe Ann Cupp. A short business meeting at which time Mohter's Day and Money making projects were discussed. Bible study of the 34th Psalm followed the discussion.

A picnic was planned for the next meeting. It will be held at Rising Park, Lancaster. Refreshments were served by the hostess

Anniversary Luncheon Set By Republican Club

Plans have been completed for the observance of the Ninth Birthday Anniversary Luncheon Meeting of the Pickaway County Women's Republican Club at Franklin Inn, at 1 p.m. Monday.

It was nine years ago on Monday, April 25, 1949, that Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of near Lockbourne invited nine ladies to be her guests at a luncheon at Franklin Inn, purpose to organize a Pickaway County Women's Republican Club. The object of the club was to promote Republican activities among the Pickaway County women on a educational basis, working for good government, promoting Republican philosophy and electing candidates to office.

The club was to convene regularly on the fourth Monday of each month as a luncheon meeting. There were 34 women who joined the first year, coming from Circleville, New Holland, Williamsport, Orient, Laurelville, Ashville and Lockbourne. The meetings featured prominent speakers; men and women; state and local office holders, presented Republican candidates to the public before the primaries and November elections.

Local delegates and members attended state and national conferences of the Ohio and National Federation of Republican Women organizations, with which the local club is affiliated.

Educational tours were organized, visiting the Ohio Legislature in session, calling on the state officers, visiting traffic court, touring the Columbus City Prison and twice the group made a complete tour of the State School for Mentally Retarded Children. They assisted in stuffing T. B. Christmas seals.

Liberal donations were made to the Robert A. Taft Memorial in Washington D. C. "Care" packages were sent to children in Hong Kong, Tokyo, India and Germany. At Christmas, 75 gift wrapped packages were sent to the State School. Most of all club activities were financed through the collection of sales tax stamps.

Many social events such as morning coffees, afternoon teas, garden parties and family picnics have been enjoyed through the years.

Mrs. Caldwell, president, has appointed the following committee to help plan this year's program. General chairman and table arrangements, Mrs. Wilbut Gillespie, New Holland; Mrs. J. B. Work, Circleville; Miss Lucille Blake, Lockbourne; and Miss Betty McCoy, Circleville. Mrs. C. A. Bliss of Orient is chairman of the birthday observation.

Reports of State Conference Presented to DAR Chapter

Reports of delegates to State Conference in Cincinnati highlighted the April meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held in the home of Mrs. George Roth, Sr., E. Main St. Twenty-nine members and three guests, including Mrs. C. E. Warner of the Ft. Snelling Chapter, DAR of Minneapolis, Minn., responded to the ritualistic opening conducted by Mrs. R. R. Bales, Regent, and Miss Florence Brown, Chaplain.

Mrs. Clarence McAbee led the Salute to the Flag followed by Mrs. James Moffitt who led the group in singing the National Anthem accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Peters.

Mrs. Emerson Spicer, chairman of American music, presented a reading on American Negro Music. Serious consideration of Negro music was evidenced after the Civil War when traveling choruses from several Negro Universities presented concerts throughout the country as a means to earn money thus discovering this type of music to be well received by the general public.

W. C. Handy, famous composer of St. Louis Blues, and other noted musicians helped to popularize this particular style and to make Jazz the first original American music. Both spiritual and secular themes of Negro melodies reflect a sensitivity to environment: Negro music, shaped by American experience and polished by the well known Negro love of song, being not merely an imported product but a dramatic, melodious expression of life.

Mrs. Stanley Beckett, Miss Marie Hamilton and Mrs. Bales related the activities of the State Conference. Eleven resolutions accepted by the Assembly, ranging from Respects to the late State Regent, Mrs. Jane C. Davis, to opposition to proposed alteration of the US Capitol facade, were explained.

"Suicide or survival" was the title of an address by Jessica Wyatt Payne, member of the W. Va. legislature, in which was stressed the theme that everyone should awaken to his responsibilities in the community, state and nation and not permit apathy and disinterest to harden into phlegmatic unconcern. "Silence is not golden, but yellow".

The Indian Breakfast, always a favorite with delegates to State Conference, heard Dr. Delonia, directir of Indian work at Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, speak of his disappointment in Congress' failure to pass a domestic point four program for economic assistance to the American Indian and St. Mary's School of Girls.

This school has an enrollment of eighty girls and its prosperity during the past year was due to the aid of the Ohio DAR, which ranked second in the country in support. One of the objectives of the school is pride: pride is being an Indiana, in St. Mary's, and in being an American.

At the approved schools luncheon, Mrs. Lola Wilson, executive secretary of Tamassee, related her duties at this institution. Tamassee means "place of sunlight and of God" and has 220 boys and girls besides day students. Some ride 40 miles a day to attend classes.

Memorial Services, presided over by the State Chaplain, Mrs. Martin Cromley, were held for all deceased members who passed away during the year and included three Real Granddaughters in the State and two members from our Chapter.

The Pickaway Plains Chapter, placed second in Advertizing and one gross of American flags were sold and credited to the Chapter. The formal banquet took place in the Hall of Mirrors.

The conference was adjourned until it reconvenes next year at Columbus.

Mrs. Richard Hedges, Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and correspondence from Alice Bonn, Mrs. E. T. Carstarphen and Kate Duncan Smith School. Members voted to partially support a boy to Forestry Camp.

Meeting adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess committee: Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. H. O. Borror, Mrs. J. L. Chilcote, Mrs. Forest Brown, Miss Benedine Yates, Mrs. Robert Graham, Miss Mary Spangler, Mrs. Forest Brown, Mrs. James Adams, Miss Ruth Montelius.

The next meeting will be May 20 at Williamsport with members from the community serving as hostesses.

Picnic Planned By Youth Group

The Helping Hand Class, Church of the Brethren, held its monthly meeting in the home of Chloe Ann Cupp. A short business meeting at which time Mohter's Day and Money making projects were discussed. Bible study of the 34th Psalm followed the discussion.

A picnic was planned for the next meeting. It will be held at Rising Park, Lancaster. Refreshments were served by the hostess

Effort To Cut New Car List Only Moderately Successful

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's effort to cut new car inventories has been only moderately successful.

Sharp reductions in production and intensified sales drives reduced dealer stocks only by about 11,000 units last month. Leading executives say there is no indication of a sales upturn in the months immediately ahead.

L. L. Colbert, Chrysler Corp. president, told stockholders a few days ago every effort is being made to stimulate sales but the corporation's January - March operations would show a loss.

With an output so far this year of about 200,000 units, Chrysler is down approximately a quarter-million units from comparable 1957. Ford also is nearly a quarter-million units behind and General Motors about 195,000.

The car makers last year said the traditional spring upsurge in new car demand was a thing of the past that seasonal influences no longer were factors in auto merchandising.

Last year the industry sold just under six million new cars.

At the present rate of sales, the industry would have difficulty attaining a 12-month total of even 4½ million units. A total of 4,800,000, including 300,000 imported cars, is being talked about in some quarters.

But price discounts already are being offered by most retailers. Right now nobody is bold enough to venture a prediction as to what may happen to car prices in the cleanup period that starts in the July-September quarter and runs right through to the end of the model year.

About the surest thing right now is that there will be price hikes when the 1959 models are introduced.

Woman Says She'll Avoid 'No Comment'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, Ohio's only woman candidate for governor, told newsmen Wednesday if elected she would have an open door policy to the press and would eliminate the political "no commnt."

The Columbus housewife and mother of five is one of seven Democrats seeking the nomination for governor. Her press conference at her home here, she explained, was her last "big campaign push in Columbus." She said she plans to go out over the state next week.

The open door policy was one of 24 planks on her platform which she reviewed for newsmen.

She said she favors such things as abolition of capital punishment; fair employment practices; legalized bingo; unemployment compensation, aid to the aged and welfaire benefits to meet present day costs; and sterilization of feebleminded and insane patients in mental hospitals upon recommendation of the medical staff.

She also backed supplemental unemployment benefits; a flat minimum wage for Ohio workers in line with federal fair labor standards act; a half to one per cent income tax (eliminating the sales tax and municipal income taxes); streamling county government; property tax deduction for those with $2,500 a year or less income; economy at all times and "placing the money where it is most needed."

Mrs. Suarez said she is against the so-called right-to-work proposal.

Cincy Area Foundry Labor Talks Booked

HAMILTON (AP) — Federal Mediator James Bentley has called a meeting for Friday in Cincinnati of representatives of striking moulders and 18 plant owners in another effort to end a strike which began 68 days ago.

Approximately 1,800 union workers in plants in Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton have been on strike over a new contract.

Ex-Counterspy Tries, Fails To Soothe Ex-Red

DALLAS (AP) — Former FBI counterspy Herbert Philbrick offered to patch up hard feelings with the boss of the old Daily Worker, John Gates, Wednesday but it was no go.

Gates held memories of a stretch in the Atlanta pen for conviction of conspiracy toward the government. Philbrick's testimony helped put him there.

They argued a few pros and many cons of communism during a panel discussion before an overflow crowd of more than 3,400 students at Southern Methodist University. The school said the talks would give the students an insight into communism and help them combat it.

Backstage before the talks, photographers tried to get the two to pose together. "I will but I don't believe Mr. Gates is willing," Philbrick said.

"He's a fake and a phony," Gates snarled at newsmen.

Gates said he was no longer a Communist, having quit the party two days after the Daily Worker folded, but a Democratic Socialist.

O'Neill Presses For U.S. Cash

Ohio GOP Solons' Aid Sought on Road Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill asked Ohio GOP congressmen Wednesday night for help in getting federal money to start work on Ohio's emergency roads program.

Talking with reporters after the closed meeting, O'Neill said he anticipates a considerable amount of red tape in getting roads contracts approved by the Bureau of Public Roads.

"I think we have a serious problem in getting our plans approved in time to have the work under contract this summer," O'Neill said.

Reporters asked the governor why it was necessary to make a special trip to Washington to talk to the congressmen, since the program no longer is in the hands of Congress.

A roads bureau official said today practically all of th work now is up to th states and that there will be little delay as far as the federal government is concerned in getting the roads plans approved.

O'Neill said he wants to get started quickly and believes that Ohio members of Congress can help him considerably by talking over specific projects, as they come up, with the roads bureau.

"We've got to have our plans for roads in by May 1," O'Neill told newsmen.

"We've got to sell these projects (to contractors) in June," he added.

The law, which would give Ohio 15 million dollars as its share of the emergency roads program, states that all contracts must be approved by the Bureau of Public Roads by Dec. 1.

O'Neill, however, said Ohio wants to get started much earlier than that. He said his state plans to use its share of the money almos exclusively on rural roads.

Refrigerator Car Aide Makes Long Inspection

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—James Drones, making a routine inspection of a refrigerator car, got a pretty good look at it. He was sealed inside it for 46 hours.

Drones, 40, hopped into the car at Newark Monday, only to have the door slide shut behind him. His shouts and pounding were of no avail until a conductor, also making a routine check, finally came upon him Wednesday.

He was treated for exposure.

Some old-fashioned recipes specified that the yolks and whites be beaten separately for popovers; nowadays most cooks believe they get good results by beating the whole eggs at one time.

Housewives waiting for beef prices to come down to the bargain level can turn instead this week to ham or leg of lamb for their Sunday dinners.

Both items will be presented at many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores as the weekly special.

Beef was a little lower at the wholesale level this week and supermarket meat experts say the easing in beef prices may mean more roasts and steaks at reasonable prices before too long. Meantime, they're offering chuck roast for the economy-minded shopper.

Long Island ducklings are in good supply in some Eastern areas where they're fancied by gourmets. A variety of fish is available near ocean and lake markets.

Eggs are two to four cents a dozen cheaper this week in many places, so the housewife can turn to omelets and souffles if she can't find a meat bargain that strikes her fancy.

Outstanding buys in vegetables are limited to cooking greens such as spinach, turnip tops, chicoria, kale and broccoli rabe.

Asparagus is a good buy, now that the New Jersey crop, helped by favorable growing weather, has started to come in, augmenting supplies from California.

Crisp red radishes are rated as good buys by produce men, too. So are endive and escarole.

Experts Say Safety Is 'Sold like Soap'

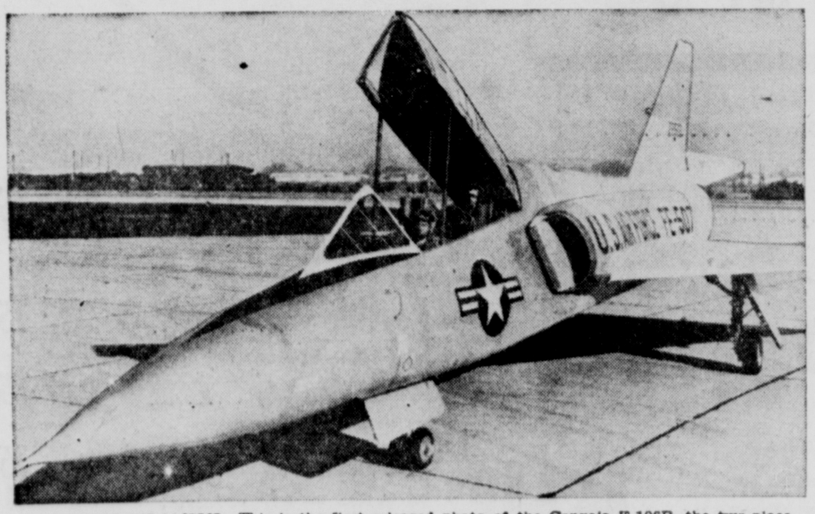

COLUMBUS (AP)—Experts in the field of preserving life and limb say "you have to sell safety like you sell soap."

The experts are in Columbus for the 28th annual All-Ohio Safety Congress which continues through Thursday. The Ohio State Safety Council is sponsoring the event.

People is the big problem. Last year, 70 to 90 per cent of the job accidents in Ohio were caused by human failure.

If you want to save stirring time when you are preparing a white sauce or custard, scald the milk called for before the final cooking takes place.

Superfine or extra fine granulated sugar helps to give a cake a fine texture.

Effort To Cut New Car List Only Moderately Successful

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's effort to cut new car inventories has been only moderately successful.

Sharp reductions in production and intensified sales drives reduced dealer stocks only by about 11,000 units last month. Leading executives say there is no indication of a sales upturn in the months immediately ahead.

L. L. Colbert, Chrysler Corp. president, told stockholders a few days ago every effort is being made to stimulate sales but the corporation's January-March operations would show a loss.

With an output so far this year of about 200,000 units, Chrysler is down approximately a quarter-million units from comparable 1957. Ford also is nearly a quarter-million units behind and General Motors about 195,000.

The car makers last year said the traditional spring upsurge in new car demand was a thing of the past that seasonal influences no longer were factors in auto merchandising.

Last year the industry sold just under six million new cars.

At the present rate of sales, the industry would have difficulty attaining a 12-month total of even 4½ million units. A total of 4,800,000, including 300,000 imported cars, is being talked about in some quarters.

But price discounts already are being offered by most retailers. Right now nobody is bold enough to venture a prediction as to what may happen to car prices in the cleanup period that starts in the July-September quarter and runs right through to the end of the model year.

About the surest thing right now is that there will be price hikes when the 1959 models are introduced.

Woman Says She'll Avoid 'No Comment'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, Ohio's only woman candidate for governor, told newsmen Wednesday if elected she would have an open door policy to the press and would eliminate the political "no commnt."

The Columbus housewife and mother of five is one of seven Democrats seeking the nomination for governor. Her press conference at her home here, she explained, was her last "big campaign push in Columbus." She said she plans to go out over the state next week.

The open door policy was one of 24 planks on her platform which she reviewed for newsmen.

She said she favors such things as abolition of capital punishment; fair employment practices; legalized bingo; unemployment compensation, aid to the aged and welfaire benefits to meet present day costs; and sterilization of feebleminded and insane patients in mental hospitals upon recommendation of the medical staff.

She also backed supplemental unemployment benefits; a flat minimum wage for Ohio workers in line with federal fair labor standards act; a half to one per cent income tax (eliminating the sales tax and municipal income taxes); streamling county government; property tax deduction for those with $2,500 a year or less income; economy at all times and "placing the money where it is most needed."

Mrs. Suarez said she is against the so-called right-to-work proposal.

Cincy Area Foundry Labor Talks Booked

HAMILTON (AP) — Federal Mediator James Bentley has called a meeting for Friday in Cincinnati of representatives of striking moulders and 18 plant owners in another effort to end a strike which began 68 days ago.

Approximately 1,800 union workers in plants in Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton have been on strike over a new contract.

Ex-Counterspy Tries, Fails To Soothe Ex-Red

DALLAS (AP) — Former FBI counterspy Herbert Philbrick offered to patch up hard feelings with the boss of the old Daily Worker, John Gates, Wednesday but it was no go.

Gates held memories of a stretch in the Atlanta pen for conviction of conspiracy toward the government. Philbrick's testimony helped put him there.

They argued a few pros and many cons of communism during a panel discussion before an overflow crowd of more than 3,400 students at Southern Methodist University. The school said the talks would give the students an insight into communism and help them combat it.

Backstage before the talks, photographers tried to get the two to pose together. "I will but I don't believe Mr. Gates is willing," Philbrick said.

"He's a fake and a phony," Gates snarled at newsmen.

Gates said he was no longer a Communist, having quit the party two days after the Daily Worker folded, but a Democratic Socialist.

O'Neill Presses For U.S. Cash

Ohio GOP Solons' Aid Sought on Road Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill asked Ohio GOP congressmen Wednesday night for help in getting federal money to start work on Ohio's emergency roads program.

Talking with reporters after the closed meeting, O'Neill said he anticipates a considerable amount of red tape in getting roads contracts approved by the Bureau of Public Roads.

"I think we have a serious problem in getting our plans approved in time to have the work under contract this summer," O'Neill said.

Reporters asked the governor why it was necessary to make a special trip to Washington to talk to the congressmen, since the program no longer is in the hands of Congress.

A roads bureau official said today practically all of th work now is up to th states and that there will be little delay as far as the federal government is concerned in getting the roads plans approved.

O'Neill said he wants to get started quickly and believes that Ohio members of Congress can help him considerably by talking over specific projects, as they come up, with the roads bureau.

"We've got to have our plans for roads in by May 1," O'Neill told newsmen.

"We've got to sell these projects (to contractors) in June," he added.

The law, which would give Ohio 15 million dollars as its share of the emergency roads program, states that all contracts must be approved by the Bureau of Public Roads by Dec. 1.

O'Neill, however, said Ohio wants to get started much earlier than that. He said his state plans to use its share of the money almos exclusively on rural roads.

Refrigerator Car Aide Makes Long Inspection

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—James Drones, making a routine inspection of a refrigerator car, got a pretty good look at it. He was sealed inside it for 46 hours.

Drones, 40, hopped into the car at Newark Monday, only to have the door slide shut behind him. His shouts and pounding were of no avail until a conductor, also making a routine check, finally came upon him Wednesday.

He was treated for exposure.

Some old-fashioned recipes specified that the yolks and whites be beaten separately for popovers; nowadays most cooks believe they get good results by beating the whole eggs at one time.

Etiquette Authority Urges Auto Drivers To 'Be Rude'

CHICAGO (AP)—When you're behind the wheel of an auto, you'll be doing your passengers a favor if you forget about manners and behave rudely to them.

That is the advice from Emily Post, famed authority on etiquete. In an aricle on highway safety written for Home & Highway magazine, published by the Allstate Insurance Co., Miss Post advises drivers to forego some of the rules of etiquette with respect to passengers in a car in the interest of safety for both.

Some of the courtesies a man usually extends to a woman must be abandoned when he is driving, she says.

One hard and fast rule of courtesy, that a man should not seat himself while ladies are standing, should not apply when entering a car that is parked on a busy street, according to Miss Post. A cavalier who assists a lady into the car, then dashes around to the driver's side, is more foolhardy than gallant. He endangers both himself and passing cars that must serve to avoid hitting him. A woman's concern for her companion's safety should lead her to insist that he precede her into the car and then assist her as best he can, the etiquette expert advises.

Another courtesy Emily Post advises a man to ignore when he is in the driver's seat, is that of lighting a woman's cigarette. No driver should divert his attention from the road to perform this service. In fact, if a man knows his companion smokes, he may even ask a woman to light a cigarette for him while he is driving, she says.

Since even everyday customs of conversation sometimes must be sacrificed for safety, a driver should avoid any attempt at social chit-chat. He may even say, "Please, I can't answer now," to talkers who attempt to distract him, Miss Post explains. Interrupting another's conversation is normally a social misdemeanor, the etiquette adviser states, but it can be a lifesaver in the car. All questions a driver has about traffic or street conditions have immediate priority, she writes, and a driver should never hesitate to break into a conversation when he needs his passengers' help in traffic problems.

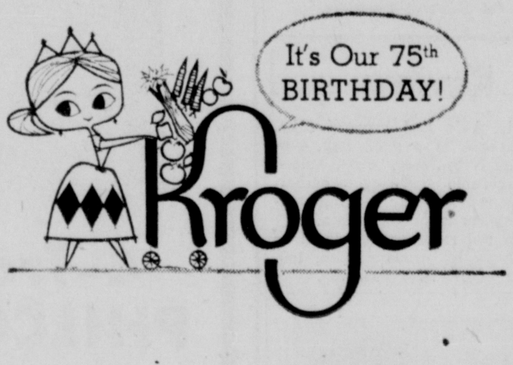

Safety must win out over etiquette in the case of children in a car, she points out. A good axiom of etiquette is never to reprove a small child in front of its parents. But if parents permit a child to misbehave in a car in such a manner that they block the driver's view or otherwise endanger the occupants, the driver must request the parents to correct the child or undertake to do it himself.

"A good driver is a courteous driver," Miss Post writes, "and that's certainly true when you're talking about driver versus another driver. When it's you versus your passengers, sometimes you must be rude for safety's sake."

Beds of salt, 400 feet thick, beneath Hutchinson, Kan., produce about four million dollars worth of salt a year.

PORTER ACCUSED — New York police say William Lee Williams of Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., a Pullman company porter, stole "well over $100,000 in jewelry" from Florida-to-New York passengers during the past couple of years and disposed of his loot in second hand shops. (International)

Etiquette Authority Urges Auto Drivers To 'Be Rude'

CHICAGO (AP)—When you're behind the wheel of an auto, you'll be doing your passengers a favor if you forget about manners and behave rudely to them.

That is the advice from Emily Post, famed authority on etiquete. In an aricle on highway safety written for Home & Highway magazine, published by the Allstate Insurance Co., Miss Post advises drivers to forego some of the rules of etiquette with respect to passengers in a car in the interest of safety for both.

Some of the courtesies a man usually extends to a woman must be abandoned when he is driving, she says.

One hard and fast rule of courtesy, that a man should not seat himself while ladies are standing, should not apply when entering a car that is parked on a busy street, according to Miss Post. A cavalier who assists a lady into the car, then dashes around to the driver's side, is more foolhardy than gallant. He endangers both himself and passing cars that must serve to avoid hitting him. A woman's concern for her companion's safety should lead her to insist that he precede her into the car and then assist her as best he can, the etiquette expert advises.

Another courtesy Emily Post advises a man to ignore when he is in the driver's seat, is that of lighting a woman's cigarette. No driver should divert his attention from the road to perform this service. In fact, if a man knows his companion smokes, he may even ask a woman to light a cigarette for him while he is driving, she says.

Since even everyday customs of conversation sometimes must be sacrificed for safety, a driver should avoid any attempt at social chit-chat. He may even say, "Please, I can't answer now," to talkers who attempt to distract him, Miss Post explains. Interrupting another's conversation is normally a social misdemeanor, the etiquette adviser states, but it can be a lifesaver in the car. All questions a driver has about traffic or street conditions have immediate priority, she writes, and a driver should never hesitate to break into a conversation when he needs his passengers' help in traffic problems.

Safety must win out over etiquette in the case of children in a car, she points out. A good axiom of etiquette is never to reprove a small child in front of its parents. But if parents permit a child to misbehave in a car in such a manner that they block the driver's view or otherwise endanger the occupants, the driver must request the parents to correct the child or undertake to do it himself.

"A good driver is a courteous driver," Miss Post writes, "and that's certainly true when you're talking about driver versus another driver. When it's you versus your passengers, sometimes you must be rude for safety's sake."

PORTER ACCUSED — New York police say William Lee Williams of Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., a Pullman company porter, stole "well over $100,000 in jewelry" from Florida-to-New York passengers during the past couple of years and disposed of his loot in second hand shops. (International)

ASC Lists Wheat Rules

Provisions Deal With Acre History

New legal provisions for wheat growers who exceed allotments have been announced by the Pickaway County Agricultural and Stabilization Committee.

These new legal provisions deal only with wheat acreage history and have no effect on marketing quota provisions.

Farmers who produce more than 15 acres and exceed allotments in 1958 will be subject to marketing quota provisions and will be required to make settlement on excess wheat production.

The new law relaxes provisions of another law passed last year, under which farms with wheat acreage in excess of the allotment would have received credit only for the allotment in the farm's wheat history.

* * *

PURPOSE of this change is to limit the extent to which individuals and areas may build up larger allotments by overplanting. However, the law was not passed until August 1957 and many farmers overplanted winter wheat without being advised of the change.

The 1958 law is designed to delay the effect of the 1957 change by one year. For 1958 only, a farmer may overproduce his wheat allotment and still receive credit in his history for his farm's base acreage (adjusted 4-year wheat history).

The base acreage is the maximum for which he may receive credit, regardless of his acreage. He can make the decision on the acreage of wheat to keep for harvest up to the disposal deadline, which is June 11 for this area.

Farmers Are Vital Cogs

The National Food Conference recently held at Washington, D. C., brought out some interesting facts that emphasized again the importance of farming to the well-being of our entire population and our total economy.

The average American spends more on food than on any other single item in his budget. In 1956, food and tobacco made up 32 per cent of total personal consumption expenditures.

Some 2,100,000 farms produced 91 per cent of the food and fiber that go to market. Farming is a basic industry. Over one-half of all raw materials used each year in business and industry comes from agriculture.

Farmers, suppliers, processors and distributors make up modern agriculture whose total product is about $90 billion dollars a year.

* * *

JUST before World War II, only about 25 per cent of farm production supplies — fertilizers, seeds, feeds—came from urban-industry sources. Now, farmers get more than 60 per cent of these supplies from cities and factories. By 1975, these production input items may reach 75 per cent or more.

In 1920, one farm worker produced enough food and fiber for eight people. Today he produces enough for 21 people. Farm output is 60 per cent greater than in 1920. This is being accomplished by fewer people on the farm.

As agricultural productivity has increased, the farm population has decreased 11.6 million between 1920 and 1957.

New Leaflet Is Out on Bug Control

Home gardeners can prevent most insect damage to their vegetables and flowers if they follow a good pest control program, according to George Hamrick, Pickaway County Agricultural Agent.

Lyle Goleman, extension entomologist for Ohio State University, explains such a program in a new Agricultural Extension Service leaflet now available at the Pickaway County Extension Office. The leaflet is titled "Outwitting Insect Pests."

The entomologist says regular applications of a general-purpose insecticidal mixture to vegetable, flowers and other ornamentals effectively control most insect pests. But how effective an insect control program is, he says, depends on the program, when it is used and how it is used.

In the leaflet, Goleman discusses the relative merits of sprays and dusts, describes spraying and dustgests insecticidal treatments for ing equipment available and sugvegetables, flowers, trees, shrubs and lawns.

Lime Firm Advises Inventory on Soil

W. H. Margraf, manager of the Agricultural Limestone Division of Marble Cliff Quarries Co., wonders if farmers realize the importance of their soil. How many farmers are taking stock of soil, their important producing plant?

With use it suffers, changes for bad or good. To plan well for improved and continued good producing capacity, the farmer needs to take stock of his soil condition.

Such an inventory, if authentically made, is a safe basis for building a sound soil program. Most farmers start this with tests of their soil.

The College of Agriculture has set up within its agricultural extension service, a soil inventory laboratory. It is advised to see local county agents, men well versed in farm problems, for soil testing information.

* * *

DUE TO Marble Cliff's 45 years of production experience the farmers of Ohio now can get a product that is finer than ever before. High in calcium combined with magnesium, tops in neutralizing power, it has been state-tested and approved.

The application of agricultural limestone of uniform fineness is the answer to increased production. The quick-acting long-lasting abilities of agricultural limestone assure increased legume and crop yields. Stretch dollars, increase yields by applying one of Marble Cliff's quality brands of agricultural liming material.

Local Marble Cliff dealers gladly will quote delivered and spread prices.

Thousands of acres of land will be broken this spring, for hay crops, pastures, corn, and small grain. This affords an ideal opportunity to apply lime.

Country roads and farm lanes appear in good repair. They can withstand hauling by trucks.

Farm Bureau Women Stress Tractor Safety

A Tractor Safety Campaign conducted by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee is 75 per cent completed according to reports submitted during a regular monthly meeting held in the Farm Bureau Home Monday.

Farm Bureau women have placed safety stickers on tractors of Farm Bureau members in the County to remind the drivers of the many tragedies every season caused by "hurry", "crossing a slope", "traveling on the highway", "ditches", "hitting hidden objects or holes", "tractor hitchhikers", "stuck in a hole", "loads on crossbar", "towing tractor too fast", and in some cases just plain "horseplay".

Each year, some Pickaway County farm family is stricken by "Tractor Tragedy" when the farmer, his wife, son or daughter is fatally injured.

The committee is composed of two women rpresentatives from each Farm Bureau Advisory Council and the four women members of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau Board of Directors.

Miss Jean Werts of the Ohio Farm Bureau met with the committee Monday and discussed projects for the summer. Vice-chairman Miss Mary Shortridge of Jackson Twp. was in charge of the program.

Comes Back Clean

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A family in suburban Reynoldsburg nearly got taken to the cleaners except for the honesty of a laundry truck driver.

The driver found $81 in cash in a coat pocket he picked up for cleaning and within an hour returned it in person to the lady of the house.

Mrs. Lawrence Reis said the money, her husband's entire weekly pay, was not missed until the driver returned it.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why can't I fit in with my husband's friends? I seem simply to go to pieces around them, and can't register any warmth of personality whatsoever. How can I overcome this?

Dick and I met in college. I was always rather timid and shy and he, a very extrovert young man, sought me out. We went together for about a year before we married. His friends on campus had the most money, nicest clothes and most carefree personality. My friends were the serious girls who had few clothes, little money and believed we had to work for what we got.

Now we live in my husband's hometown. He is trying to get launched in a business of his own, and I help him eight hours daily as his secretary—until he can afford paid help.

We belong to the country club. When we go to dinners or dances there, we go alone—and from the moment we arrive, I begin to get very nervous. I tag along after Dick; stick to him like a leech; and the longer I stay, the more like an outcast I feel. The other wives are all grouped together, talking gaily. None of them invites me in; in fact they don't seem to see me at all—and I don't feel I can burst in.

Now I avoid the club, and Dick spends most of his spare time there, playing golf. He wears a most martyred air if I don't go to the dinners and such with him. His sister is one of the socialites of the town.

After some special event at the club, when I feel that I am a complete social failure, I am miserable for weeks and pick at Dick, trying to make him miserable, too. He is out of sympathy with me in the matter, and usually makes me feel more miserable.

I want to be accepted, liked and respected by his friends; but we aren't invited to private parties in their homes. I see them only when we go to the club. I feel that I am holding my husband back socially. If only I could control my nervousness, and be calm and poised in the face of their seeming indifference, I could conquer the problem, I think.

R.R.

DEAR R.R.: Odd that your husband's socialite sister doesn't come to your rescue and help you get on a friendly footing with the country club set. But maybe you bore her, and annoy and alienate her, with your dreary timidity and shyness, and rigid assumption that others must build a bridge to you socially.

Maybe she feels, disapprovingly, that you are a millstone around your husband's neck, with your helpless air of misery, in situations where you aren't treated well. Because let's be frank, the country club set is treating you badly.

As to why they are freezing you out—well, it's a small town and you aren't a native. Obviously Dick married a stranger to their crowd, and a girl on a different wave length besides a stuffy serious sort, not gregarious.

Maybe somebody in the wives' group had years ago marked Dick for her own, and still feels cheated. Maybe she is knifing you vengefully, with the tacit support of provincial cronies, who haven't the social grace or real sophistication to be hospitable to the stranger in their midst.

As for the remedy — grow up. Learn to take care of yourself in society. Don't thrust the whole burden at Dick. And don't shrink into a shell, in fear of humiliation.

Very likely the country club set isn't your kind of people. If you could freely choose bosom friends, you probably wouldn't choose them.It may be a case of "oil and water won't mix." So don't hang your head in shame because they are primitively rude. That's their shortcoming, not yours.

Rather, find your own feet, and stand on them. Enlist psychiatric help in storing up your self-esteem, and getting solidly poised on a bedrock foundation of self-knowledge and self-acceptance. Then branch out on your own initiative, to make friends in the community who share your real interests. Don't rush at the job. Take it in stride, as a lifetime project.

Good Advice Costly

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Traffic Judge James Demopolos offered advice to a young college student who was charged with making a U-turn on a bridge so he could pick up a pretty girl.

"The trick is not to make a U-turn on the bridge," Demopolos said. "Just drive to the end of the bridge and wait for her. There are only two ways a pretty girl can get off a bridge."

The lesson cost the student $7.

This Saves Digging

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Stumped by the problem of stump removal, London Public Utilities Commission is trying a new approach. It is studying use of a vertical saw which cuts a stump into kindling without any need of digging into the earth.

Some Alaskan brown bears stand nine feet tall, reaching a weight of 1,500 pounds, twice the size of a grizzly.

Direct Loans Due in July

Limit on Money Raised $3,500

(Questions of interest to exservicem enshould be passed to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Courthouse in Circleville.)

Q— How soon will it be possible for me to get a Direct GI Loan through the Cincnnati VA Office, under the new law which was recently passed?

A— It is impossible for me to state how soon you can get a Direct GI Loan through, because it is impossible to know how long the waiting list is for direct loans. I do know this, that no one can get a Direct G I Loan before July 1 of this year, because they money will not be available before that date.

Q— I understand that the maximum available to a veteran is increased under this new law, is that correct? How much can a veteran borrow on a Direct G I Loan?

A— The maximum available under the new law for a Diret G I LoanLoan is increased under the n law from $10,000 to $13,500.

Q— My uncle, a totally disabled World War I veteran is in a rest home. I am paying the expenses of his care in this home. He is getting a VA Pension. In computing his annual income, must he include the money I pay to the home for his upkeep?

A— No. Money which you pay to the home to cover his maintenance is not considered as income, for VA Pension purposes.

Q— I am a dependent parent of a World War II veteran who draws a 10 per cent compensation for a service connected disability. If my son dies of non-service connected disability may I draw a pension?

A— No. Dependent parents are not eligible to receive death pension on the basis of their son's service.

Q— I understand that World War II veterans can pay their G I insurance premiums once a year at a discount. Does this same privilege apply to those of us who hold Korean G I term insurance policies?

A— Yes, all holders of GI insurance, whether World War I, II, or Korean veteran may pay premiums on a yearly basis, rather than monthly.

Q— I AM A TOTALLY disabled World War II veteran. I want to convert my GI term insurance policy to a permanent plan. Will my disability limit the choices of permanent plans that are available to me?

A— Yes it will. Endownment policies are not available to totally disabled veterans. However, you do have the choice of ordinary life, 20-pay life or 30-pay life.

Graduates To Help Shortage of Teachers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Colleges will graduate 116,000 new teachers this spring, but the teacher shortage will still be critical.

This was the gist of a report issued today by the National Education Assn. after a survey.

Public schools now need 220,000 more teachers, the report said. Only about 85,000 of this spring's qualified graduates are expected to enter the teaching field.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The case of Abe Savage Jr., who was killed by police bullets on March 31 while trying to elude capture, will not be taken before the Hamilton County Grand Jury, Prosecutor C. Watson Hover has announced.

Young Savage was shot, police reported, when he ran through a red traffic light, ignored three road blocks and tried to force their cars off the street.

NZ 'Valley of Steam' Harnessed for Industry

By ARTHUR SCHOLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — The fantastic thermal region of New Zealand's North island is to be harnessed for industrial power.

The production of 250,000 kilowatts of electricity is to be obtained from steam and hot water in the Wairakei geo-thermal area —New Zealand's age-old "Valley of Steam."

In the Valley of Steam mud boils in sluggish gray pools, powerful geysers shoot skyward against a backdrop of delicately-shaded silica terraces.

The "capital city" of the valley is Rotorua, center of the thermal region, surrounded by semi-active volcanoes. In nearby mountain streams fighting 10-pound trout lure anglers from all over the world.

Proud warriors of the ancient Maori race still strut in tribal regalia; strange underground caverns are illuminated by millions of tiny glow worms.

Here the mighty Pohutu geysers shoot plumes of scalding water hundreds of feet into the air. Tourists stare in wonder at the Steaming Cliffs of Lake Rotomahana, and hold their breath when the Kapiti Blowhole shoots steam jet at 180 pounds pressure up from the bowels of the earth.

The New Zealand government has sunk 50 bores into the Valley of Steam ranging from 500 to 3,000 feet. The jets roar away into the atmosphere with a force equivatent to 60,000 kilowatts of electric power.

The cost of the electricity from steam project is estimated at $60 million. The government faces a possible expenditure of $1.5 billion in the next 25 years for electricity generation.

Work has already begun on a plant to produce 69,000 kilowatts from Wairakei steam, which seeps through the earth's crust, but gushes at tremendous pressure from the bores which have been sunk.

Tourists stare in awe at the Champagne Pool with its crown of steam, in the Wairakei thermal valley.

At the present rate of sinking bores, proved resources for 250,000 kilowatts should be available by July, this year. This capacity depends on using natural boiling water as well as steam. Consultants have reported that this is technically difficult, but practicable.

The establishment of other plants at Wairakei, or elsewhere in the North island thermal region is recommended once the orginal power house is working to satisfaction.

Scientists have long been interested in the power potential of New Zealand's thermal zone. Proposals for its use in industry go back 20 years.

In 1949 the government heeded a warning from the state hydro-electric department that hydro power would not meet the inces- economy.

The government directed a geo-thermal investigation, and in 1950 the first bores were drilled. The Wairakei area, just north of Lake Taupo, was known to have a close concentration of geysers.

The first bores were drilled near the geysers and boiling mud pools and steam vents of the tourist region. Success was immediate. The power station nearing completion at Wairakei is assured of steam supplies for at least 20 years.

There have been technical difficulties during the development. Steam to drive generators must be superheated to "dry" steam, for too much water condensing on the blades of the generators would cause them to erode quickly.

The steam must also be free from impurities which would clog delicate machinery. As the steam coming from the bores contains large quantities of water, special equipment has had to be designed so that "dry" steam is available.

Hugh D. Wait, state director of industrial relations, said he will appoint the nine-member board following completion of a survey covering 1,719 dry cleaning and laundry establishments which will be covered by the minimum wage scale.

A bill now before the New York State Legislature would prohibit issuance of motor vehicle driver's license unless accompanied by a physician's certificate stating applicant is not suffering from epilpsy or other ailment which causes blackout.

NZ 'Valley of Steam' Harnessed for Industry

By ARTHUR SCHOLES
Central Press Association Correspondent

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — The fantastic thermal region of New Zealand's North island is to be harnessed for industrial power.

The production of 250,000 kilowatts of electricity is to be obtained from steam and hot water in the Wairakei geo-thermal area —New Zealand's age-old "Valley of Steam."

In the Valley of Steam mud boils in sluggish gray pools, powerful geysers shoot skyward against a backdrop of delicately-shaded silica terraces.

The "capital city" of the valley is Rotorua, center of the thermal region, surrounded by semi-active volcanoes. In nearby mountain streams fighting 10-pound trout lure anglers from all over the world.

Proud warriors of the ancient Maori race still strut in tribal regalia; strange underground caverns are illuminated by millions of tiny glow worms.

Here the mighty Pohutu geysers shoot plumes of scalding water hundreds of feet into the air. Tourists stare in wonder at the Steaming Cliffs of Lake Rotomahana, and hold their breath when the Kapiti Blowhole shoots steam jet at 180 pounds pressure up from the bowels of the earth.

The New Zealand government has sunk 50 bores into the Valley of Steam ranging from 500 to 3,000 feet. The jets roar away into the atmosphere with a force equivatent to 60,000 kilowatts of electric power.

The cost of the electricity from steam project is estimated at $60 million. The government faces a possible expenditure of $1.5 billion in the next 25 years for electricity generation.

Movies Said Aiding 'Enemy'

Hollywood's Chief Foe, TV, Gets Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie business continues to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

Everyone in the film business admits that TV is the element that triggered the movie depression. Yet the movies performed their own version of hari-kiri by selling their immense libraries for use on the late, late show.

Now the studios are doing TV another favor by building up stars for TV to cash in with.

Case in point: Jeff Richards. Friday night, Jeff starts a new NBC series called Jefferson Drum. Says he: "It's not really like other TV Westerns. I play a newspaper editor who tries to solve situations without a gun, if possible."

TV can thank MGM for creating its new star. For six years, Jeff was under contract to the studio. Many of us predicted he would become a top attraction. But he never really got the chance.

"I said I wanted out. I got out, too — after paying $4,400 of my salary back to them for the time I wasn't working."

He was offered several TV series. He held off, figuring he'd see how the picture business was.

The picture business was bad. Then he got a couple of pictures, signed a two-picture-a-year deal for five years with Alan Ladd's Jaguar Productions, made the Jefferson Drum deal.

He now is earning thrice his old MGM salary in films, twice that amount in TV, plus a percentage of the profits.

Paroled Killer Sends Thanks Note to Judge

CLEVELAND (AP)—Paroled thrill killer Nathan Leopold has written a local judge that his hospital laboratory work in Puerto Rico is interesting but arduous.

The letter was addressed to Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert, who last fall helped back Leopold's parole. The convict was serving a life sentence for the 1924 killing of Bobby Franks.

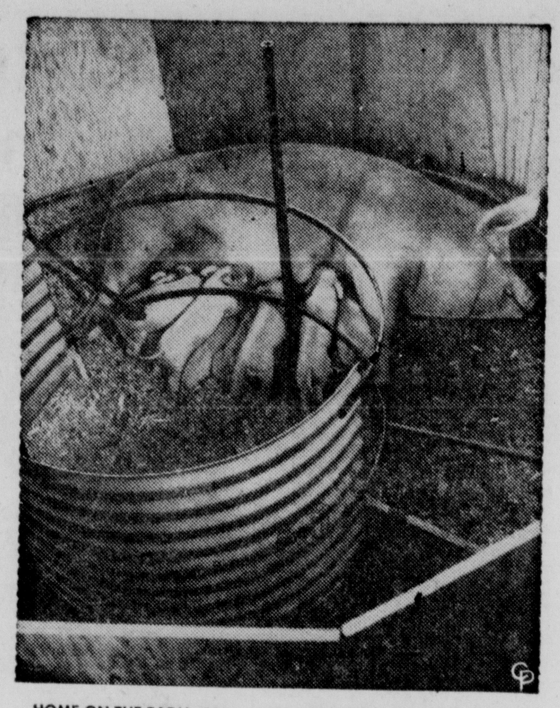

Leopold, 53, wrote to thank the judge for his help and described his work on the Brethren Service Project in Castaner, Puerto Rico.

Spring Snow Maroons — South Montana Area

RED LODGE, Mont. (AP) — This southern Montana community was marooned by waist-deep snow Wednesday as a spring storm continued its wind, rain, and snow assault on the state. It was so deep the weather observer couldn't go out to measure it.

I. A. Draper, cooperative weather observer for the Red Lodge area, said the storm was "the worst I ever saw in 56 years of recording." Schools were closed. Traffic was at a standstill.

HOME ON THE FARM—Mama pig and her little porkers in Waukon, Iowa, used a new pigloo developed to improve hog raising. The pigloo's shape causes the sow to lie with her back toward the structure's outer wall. The "youngsters" emerge only part way from the iron-barred center circle that provides safety from crushing. A metal guard rail behind the sow also prevents injury to the newcomers should they decide to wander around the perimeter. (International Soundphoto)

Detroit Fools Experts with Blazing Start

Tigers Only Game Back Of Yanks; Foytack's Pitching Gets Credit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fire-balling Paul Foytack and the Detroit Tigers are making liars out of those exhibition game statistics in the American League race.

The Tigers' exhibition 7-19 record was the worst in either league, and Foytack looked the worst of 'em all, with a 14.06 earned run average.

But at the moment the Tigers are second in the early standings, just a game back of the New York Yankees. Their question-mark pitching staff has four complete games.

Wednesday night, Foytack gained his second victory and second six-hit complete game with an 8-2 decision over the ambitious Kansas City Athletics. It gave him a neat 1.00 ERA.

Washington's surprising Senators junked the Yankees' winning streak at six, coming from behind for a 10-inning 5-4 victory. The Cleveland Indians added to Chicago's woes 2-0, with Herb Score ending any question of his comeback by allowing the White Sox just three singles. Boston ended its losing string at five with a 7-5 victory over Baltimore.

The Senators stopped the Yankees on a run-scoring single by Jim Lemon, who was 3-for-4 and knocked in their first two runs in the third with a triple off Johnny Kucks.

Score struck out 13, for a total of 27 in his 21 innings, while outdueling Billy Pierce, who gave seven hits, three by Rocky Colavito and one Bobby Avila's home run.

Pete Runnels, 3-for-3, singled home the clincher for Boston in the sixth and added a cushion run in the eighth.

The charitable Chicago Cubs, giving up runs almost as fast as they scored 'em, still lead the National League today, thanks to Bobby Thomson, the much-traveled hero who still chills the Dodgers.

It was Thomson, of course, who walloped that playoff-winning home run against the Dodgers and gave the then New York Giants the 1951 pennant. And it was the Flying Scot, who since has shifted from the Giants to Milwaukee to the Giants to the Cubs, who capped a come-from-behind ninth with a two-run double that beat Los Angeles 7-6 Wednesday night.

Four of the Dodger runs were unearned, but the Cubs shrugged it off with three in the ninth off loser Clem Labine.

The Cubs held a half-game lead over Cincinnati. The Redlegs had beaten Milwaukee and Lew Burdette, long-time nemesis, 2-0 on Bob Purkey's six-hitter. Philadelphia rapped Pittsburgh 8-1, and San Francisco, scoring six in the last two innings, defeated St. Louis 8-7.

The Redlegs had only five hits off Burdette and reliever Gene Conley. But they dumped Purkey's double, an infield single, an infield out and Frank Robinson's single for the runs in the sixth.

Jack Sanford, last year's top NL rookie with 19 victories, gained a 1-1 record with a seven-hitter and singled home two Philadelphia runs.

THEY'RE OFF — This will be a familiar scene on May 11 at the opening of the 1958 harness racing season when more than 50 pacers and trotters will be entered in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Spring Matinee. All the horses will be locally trained and the success or failure of the winter's training season could be realized in this one afternoon.

WASHDOWN — Lucky H, a pacer, is getting a bath after a daily workout by owner Clarence W. Helvering, 470 E. Main St. Lucky H is trained by Jimmy Mace in preparation for the annual Jaycee Harness Matinee. Here the horse is receiving a bath consisting of salt water after putting in a hard training session. It will take one to two hours before the horse is completely watered and cooled.

Herb Score Returns to Blazing Form

CLEVELAND (AP) — Memo to American League hitters:

Herb Score once again can fire that ball past you—his curve ball breaks sharply and his control is good. He's even fooling around with a slider to make things tougher.

The Cleveland Indians' star lefthander convinced the Chicago White Sox Wednesday that he has fully recovered from that accident last May 7 when a line drive struck him in the eye, sidelining him for the rest of the season.

Hurling bullets as he did two seasons ago when he won 20 and lost 9, the 24-year-old southpaw mowed down the White Sox 2-0 with a three-hitter and fanned 13 batters, tops in the major leagues so far this season. It gave him 27 strikeouts for the season in 21 2-3 innings pitched. He walked four.

Score, whose strikeouts have averaged better than nine a game since he joined the Indians in 1955, now has 574 in 533 2-3 innings.

"That's the pitcher I've heard about and have been waiting to see," observed Tribe Manager Bobby Bragan. "Score looked very good a couple of times this spring and had that fast ball snapping, but the difference was the breaking stuff. He was getting it over against the White Sox."

The 6-foot-1½ inch blond blazer said it was one of those days when everything went perfect. Even a 44-minute delay because of rain failed to cool him off.

Milwaukee Braves' rookie pitcher Don Nottebart is of Belgian descent.

The International Golf Assn. has 30 member nations throughout the world.

Tiger Cindermen Drop Test In Bexley-Mt. Vernon Meet

Circleville High School's track squad suffered its first defeat of the season in a triangular meet at Bexley yesterday.

The strong Bexley team captured the meet with 67.1 points. Mt. Vernon, the other team involved, was second with a 46.7 mark and Circleville ended with a 34.2 score.

The Tigers managed only four first places in the event, well below their usual performance. Three of the firsts were tallied by Junior Denny and one by Bill Johnson.

Denny's top showings were in the 100-yard dash and the broad and high jumps. Johnson's first was in the mile run.

* * *

DENNY ran the 100 dash in 10.5, high jumped five feet, two inches and broad jumped 19 feet, 11 inches. Johnson finished the mile in 4:56.5 for his best mark of the season. Denny also grabbed a second in the 220-yard dash.

Circleville suffered considerably by not being able to pick up second and third places. Bexley and Mt. Vernon both had depth in all events which spelled the difference in second the thirds.

Hess of Mt. Vernon and Hockman of Bexley were top point getters for the opponents. Hess took the high and low hurdles and the 220-yard dash. Hockman won the shotput and discus.

Circleville's next meet is scheduled Friday at Grandview in a triangular affair with the host school and St. Charles.

Ashville, Scioto Get Tourney Wins

Scioto and Ashville blazed to baseball victories yesterday in the Pickaway County tournament.

Ashville took the measure of Jackson, 11-4, and the Scioto Buffaloes rallied in the last of the seventh for two runs to down a fighting Williamsport crew, 10-9.

The Scioto - Williamsport test was played under wet conditions. The only base hit was a double by Williamsport's Dave Humphrey who blasted a double off winning pitcher Dickie Melvin.

The Deers jumped to a 2-0 first inning lead and added three more runs in the top of the third stanza for a 5-0 margin. Scioto pulled a tremendous rally in the bottom half of the third inning and scored four runs to narrow the margin to one run.

* * *

THE BUFFALOES took a 6-5 lead in the bottom of the fifth. Williamsport came right back in the top of the sixth with two runs to lead 7-5.

Scioto scored two in the bottom of the sixth for a 8-7 margin and Williamsport tallied two in the top of the seventh for a 9-8 lead. Scioto sewed up the contest in the bottom of the seventh for its first victory in the tourney.

Williamsport's James struck out 14 men and Scioto's Melvin fanned 12.

Ashville's win was behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Wilcox who fanned 14 and didn't allow a walk.

Brigner suffered the loss for Jackson. He was touched for 15 hits, fanned two and walked three.

Bill Featheringham of Ashville was the hitting star of the day, with three bingles in four trips. Catcher Bill Neal had three for five and Jim Brown tallied three runs.

Scioto now will meet Ashville (at Ashville) in the second round of the tourney. Winner of this game will be eligible for the district tournament.

Tigers Only Game Back Of Yanks; Foytack's Pitching Gets Credit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fire-balling Paul Foytack and the Detroit Tigers are making liars out of those exhibition game statistics in the American League race.

The Tigers' exhibition 7-19 record was the worst in either league, and Foytack looked the worst of 'em all, with a 14.06 earned run average.

But at the moment the Tigers are second in the early standings, just a game back of the New York Yankees. Their question-mark pitching staff has four complete games.

Wednesday night, Foytack gained his second victory and second six-hit complete game with an 8-2 decision over the ambitious Kansas City Athletics. It gave him a neat 1.00 ERA.

Washington's surprising Senators junked the Yankees' winning streak at six, coming from behind for a 10-inning 5-4 victory. The Cleveland Indians added to Chicago's woes 2-0, with Herb Score ending any question of his comeback by allowing the White Sox just three singles. Boston ended its losing string at five with a 7-5 victory over Baltimore.

The Senators stopped the Yankees on a run-scoring single by Jim Lemon, who was 3-for-4 and knocked in their first two runs in the third with a triple off Johnny Kucks.

Score struck out 13, for a total of 27 in his 21 innings, while outdueling Billy Pierce, who gave seven hits, three by Rocky Colavito and one Bobby Avila's home run.

Pete Runnels, 3-for-3, singled home the clincher for Boston in the sixth and added a cushion run in the eighth.

The charitable Chicago Cubs, giving up runs almost as fast as they scored 'em, still lead the National League today, thanks to Bobby Thomson, the much-traveled hero who still chills the Dodgers.

It was Thomson, of course, who walloped that playoff-winning home run against the Dodgers and gave the then New York Giants the 1951 pennant. And it was the Flying Scot, who since has shifted from the Giants to Milwaukee to the Giants to the Cubs, who capped a come-from-behind ninth with a two-run double that beat Los Angeles 7-6 Wednesday night.

Four of the Dodger runs were unearned, but the Cubs shrugged it off with three in the ninth off loser Clem Labine.

The Cubs held a half-game lead over Cincinnati. The Redlegs had beaten Milwaukee and Lew Burdette, long-time nemesis, 2-0 on Bob Purkey's six-hitter. Philadelphia rapped Pittsburgh 8-1, and San Francisco, scoring six in the last two innings, defeated St. Louis 8-7.

The Redlegs had only five hits off Burdette and reliever Gene Conley. But they dumped Purkey's double, an infield single, an infield out and Frank Robinson's single for the runs in the sixth.

Jack Sanford, last year's top NL rookie with 19 victories, gained a 1-1 record with a seven-hitter and singled home two Philadelphia runs.

THEY'RE OFF — This will be a familiar scene on May 11 at the opening of the 1958 harness racing season when more than 50 pacers and trotters will be entered in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Spring Matinee. All the horses will be locally trained and the success or failure of the winter's training season could be realized in this one afternoon.

Main St. Lucky H is trained by Jimmy Mace in preparation for the annual Jaycee Harness Matinee. Here the horse is receiving a bath consisting of salt water after putting in a hard training session. Herb Score Returns to Blazing Form

CLEVELAND (AP) — Memo to American League hitters:

Herb Score once again can fire that ball past you—his curve ball breaks sharply and his control is good. He's even fooling around with a slider to make things tougher.

The Cleveland Indians' star lefthander convinced the Chicago White Sox Wednesday that he has fully recovered from that accident last May 7 when a line drive struck him in the eye, sidelining him for the rest of the season.

Hurling bullets as he did two seasons ago when he won 20 and lost 9, the 24-year-old southpaw mowed down the White Sox 2-0 with a three-hitter and fanned 13 batters, tops in the major leagues so far this season. It gave him 27 strikeouts for the season in 21 2-3 innings pitched. He walked four.

Score, whose strikeouts have averaged better than nine a game since he joined the Indians in 1955, now has 574 in 533 2-3 innings.

"That's the pitcher I've heard about and have been waiting to see," observed Tribe Manager Bobby Bragan. "Score looked very good a couple of times this spring and had that fast ball snapping, but the difference was the breaking stuff. He was getting it over against the White Sox."

The 6-foot-1½ inch blond blazer said it was one of those days when everything went perfect. Even a 44-minute delay because of rain failed to cool him off.

Milwaukee Braves' rookie pitcher Don Nottebart is of Belgian descent.

The International Golf Assn. has 30 member nations throughout the world.

Tiger Cindermen Drop Test In Bexley-Mt. Vernon Meet

Circleville High School's track squad suffered its first defeat of the season in a triangular meet at Bexley yesterday.

The strong Bexley team captured the meet with 67.1 points. Mt. Vernon, the other team involved, was second with a 46.7 mark and Circleville ended with a 34.2 score.

The Tigers managed only four first places in the event, well below their usual performance. Three of the firsts were tallied by Junior Denny and one by Bill Johnson.

Denny's top showings were in the 100-yard dash and the broad and high jumps. Johnson's first was in the mile run.

* * *

DENNY ran the 100 dash in 10.5, high jumped five feet, two inches and broad jumped 19 feet, 11 inches. Johnson finished the mile in 4:56.5 for his best mark of the season. Denny also grabbed a second in the 220-yard dash.

Circleville suffered considerably by not being able to pick up second and third places. Bexley and Mt. Vernon both had depth in all events which spelled the difference in second the thirds.

Hess of Mt. Vernon and Hockman of Bexley were top point getters for the opponents. Hess took the high and low hurdles and the 220-yard dash. Hockman won the shotput and discus.

Circleville's next meet is scheduled Friday at Grandview in a triangular affair with the host school and St. Charles.

Mishap Brings $5,621 Award

Jury Decides For Hill Firm

The Hill Distributing Co., of Columbus, was awarded $5,621.82 by a petit jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday to be paid by Mrs. Alta Creasap, administrator for the estate of her deceased husband, Marion Creasap.

The Hill Co. was suing Mrs. Creasap for $10,441.94 damages incurred by one of its trucks in a collision with an automobile driven by Creasap.

The accident was on the night of Nov. 19, 1954 at the intersection of U. S. Route 62 and 762. Creasap lost his life as a result of the accident. The Hill Co., represented by Columbus attorneys, John J. Chester Jr. and Clayton Rose Jr., contended that the defendant failed to stop at the intersection as he was traveling west on 762.

They further contended that the Hill truck had the right-of-way as he was traveling southwest on Route 62 and that Creasap ran a stop sign and drove onto Route 62 where he was struck.

* * *

THE DEFENDANT, represented by local attorney, Tom A. Renick, contended that the Hill truck was traveling at an excessive rate of speed under the conditions, which were foggy.

The jury was out approximately an hour before foreman, A. J. Cook, announced the verdict.

Thh jury consisted of Georgia Skinner, Helen Whitesed, Francis Clark, Harold Moffitt, William Friece, John F. Fissell, Laurence Ward, Cliff Hedges, Martin Chaffin, Laura B. Wolf and Janice Jones.

Estimate Is Made On Weed Spraying

Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady Monday submitted to the County Commissioners an estimate of $4,450.74 to spray weed killer on county roads.

The weed killer chemical was estimated to cost $21 a mile for two sprays twice a year on both sides of the road. This estimate covers 211.94 miles of county roads.

In other business, the commissioners increased insurance on the buildings at the Pickaway County fairgrounds to $176,000. The insurance was originally $142,000, making this a $34,000 increase.

The five year policy will be equally divided between Paul B. Brown Insurance Agency, Lawrence J. Johnson Insurance Agency, Nationwide Mutual Fire Insurance Co. and Hummel & Plum Insurance.

Mishap Brings $5,621 Award

Jury Decides For Hill Firm

The Hill Distributing Co., of Columbus, was awarded $5,621.82 by a petit jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday to be paid by Mrs. Alta Creasap, administrator for the estate of her deceased husband, Marion Creasap.

The Hill Co. was suing Mrs. Creasap for $10,441.94 damages incurred by one of its trucks in a collision with an automobile driven by Creasap.

The accident was on the night of Nov. 19, 1954 at the intersection of U. S. Route 62 and 762. Creasap lost his life as a result of the accident. The Hill Co., represented by Columbus attorneys, John J. Chester Jr. and Clayton Rose Jr., contended that the defendant failed to stop at the intersection as he was traveling west on 762.

They further contended that the Hill truck had the right-of-way as he was traveling southwest on Route 62 and that Creasap ran a stop sign and drove onto Route 62 where he was struck.

* * *

THE DEFENDANT, represented by local attorney, Tom A. Renick, contended that the Hill truck was traveling at an excessive rate of speed under the conditions, which were foggy.

The jury was out approximately an hour before foreman, A. J. Cook, announced the verdict.

Thh jury consisted of Georgia Skinner, Helen Whitesed, Francis Clark, Harold Moffitt, William Friece, John F. Fissell, Laurence Ward, Cliff Hedges, Martin Chaffin, Laura B. Wolf and Janice Jones.

Estimate Is Made On Weed Spraying

Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady Monday submitted to the County Commissioners an estimate of $4,450.74 to spray weed killer on county roads.

The weed killer chemical was estimated to cost $21 a mile for two sprays twice a year on both sides of the road. This estimate covers 211.94 miles of county roads.

In other business, the commissioners increased insurance on the buildings at the Pickaway County fairgrounds to $176,000. The insurance was originally $142,000, making this a $34,000 increase.

The five year policy will be equally divided between Paul B. Brown Insurance Agency, Lawrence J. Johnson Insurance Agency, Nationwide Mutual Fire Insurance Co. and Hummel & Plum Insurance.
